By JOHN HALLOWELL

Students from the MFHS Theatre Arts group will present the "Circus" haunted house in the basement of Salem's Jewelry (514 Hwy 290N in Marble Falls) each evening from October 26-31, beginning at 7 p.m.

Lake LBJ Golf Club will host its Halloween Crazy 4-person scramble at 4 p.m. on Friday, October 28. It will be followed by a Halloween dinner.

Llano will hold its Fourth Friday Artwalk from 5 to 7 p.m. on Friday, October 28. It will spotlight Llano's Trail of the Dead, and there will be events at each location. There will be live music and a dance performance by Wildflower Dance Studio, carnival games and more! Wear your Halloween costume for even more fun!

The Upper Highland Lakes Nature Center will hold its annual Owl-O-Ween Open House, featuring all kinds of nature-related displays and activities (and there will be owl from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 29. The Center is located at Reville Peak Ranch, on the east side of Lake Buchanan.

The Kingsland Community Center will host its annual Halloween Carnival, including a Haunted House and a Costume Contest, from 4 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, October 29. See ad on page 9.

Kingsland City Care Center will host its annual Fall Festival, also from 4 to 7 p.m. this Saturday.

This year's Llano Pumpkin Contest is being renamed as "the Llano River Pumpkin Float." It will be held (weather permitting) at Backyard near the dam, from 9:30-8:30 on Saturday, October 29, with the pumpkin glowing and floating as soon as it gets dark. If you would like to participate bring your already-carved pumpkin (no paint or glitter, please) before 5 p.m. There will be pumpkin carving demonstrations, pumpkin snacks, side-walk chalk and some games for children.

For more details, please contact Cheryl Quallemen at 512-417-9274.

MAS Floral will hold its annual Halloween Bash, featuring Elunted Trail Rides, Ravenous House and much move from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday night at the Fire Station at 105 Wood Forest Road in Kingsland.

The Llano Chili Cook-off will be held at the Llano County Community Center in Cottonwood Springs. Doors are your best costume for a killer Karaoke Costume Party!

The Cadillac Dance Hall, in Kingsland, will host a Monster Bash featuring music from Ben Watson and the Fried Gams, also beginning at 7:30 this Saturday.

Artists from throughout the Hill Country will present their work at the 12th annual Spicewood Arts Council's Arts Roundup on the shady grounds of the La Cauina Grill (2110 TX Highway 71, Spicewood) from 11 a.m. to 1 Sunday, November 2-3 on Sunday, October 26-30. Both days will also feature local musicians.

I hope the family of this good-looking (and well-dressed) dog won’t be upset with me for taking this picture. I was at the Brother Sun home in the Hill Country Builders Association’s Parade of Home (see page 4), when I saw this intriguing sight from the upstairs balcony.

Scatterthought

The Highland Lakes area is buzzing this time of year with Halloween and Halloween-related activities. I’ve already been to a few, and I expect to be at a few more in the next few days. I didn’t really even try to get ALL the Halloween activities into this paper, but I did try to include all that I had heard of in my “Upcoming Events” article. I’m sure there are more, so ask around your neighborhood if you don’t see anything you like in this paper.

There are lots of other events, too. In addition to the things I listed in “Upcoming Events,” the Heritage Brown Free Library will be offering its popular “Color Me Cain,” adult coloring sessions again at 2 p.m. every 1st and 3rd Wednesday of the month beginning November 2. Dr. Bill Bloom has asked me to mention a meeting of the Windows Computer Group at the Highland Lakes Senior Center in Kingsland from 4 to 5:30 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. The topics for November 8 will be security tools and computer speed, plus an open discussion on computer issues.

And Faith Academy will offer a free Bible-based parenting class on November 16 at 7:00 in the evening. The event will be held in the Faith Academy Student Center. The guest speaker will be Jared Dool of David Family Ministry. This one-night event is free and open to the public. The Faith Academy Gym will be open and equipped for all kindergarten through 8th grade students.

Besse Tchud has interested me a couple of weeks ago that the big Thanksgiving Dinner at St. Frederick Baptist Church will be held on Saturday, November 19. They served more than 800 free meals last year, and hope to serve even more this year. If you would like to help with your time, cash or food, please call the church at 830-693-4499.

Also, the Elves for the Elderly program is requesting appropriate Christmas gifts for our seniors sometime in the next month (deadline December 2). Call 830-693-0700 for details.

The Burnet Chamber of Commerce is looking for vendors and sponsors for its annual Christmas on the Square (Saturday, December 10). You can get info at registration forms at http://www.burnet-chamber.org.

Kingsland merchants are organizing a Jingle Mingle for December 4, a “shop and say” Ladies Night which they hope will become an annual tradition. They are looking for vendors and raffle item donations. Call Teresa Gray for info at 325-338-9382.

I wanted to get those items mentioned before I started on my favorite subject: history. As you probably know, I’ve been doing a series of articles on Burnet in the 1930s, and I’ve been constantly amazed by the number of familiar names I come across in those 80-year-old papers. A few that caught my attention this week were Ross Johnson Jr. (who now runs my friend from the Ford dealership), V.C. Foulks, Raymondителя and Edgar Seidensticker (father of three more friends. I believe my Mr. Foulks was my friend’s grandfather). Burnet has definitely changed in those 90 years, but much of the town’s existing infrastructure was put together during that decade, and many of the same families were among the town’s leading citizens way back then.

Ross Johnson, of course, is the great-grandson of General Adam R. Johnson. His uncle and great-uncle pitched in the major leagues, and in 1939 he was presented with a baseball autographed by the legendary Dizzy Dean and several other major leaguers. That was just one of the many fascinating tidbits in the papers that I read for this week’s history story. I hope you enjoy reading it as much as I enjoyed putting it together. Have a great week!

While most of Burnet County’s major construction projects were completed by 1939, there were still a few loose ends to tie up, and Burnet was still growing that spring. Rural Electrification was finally nearing reality, and a Burnet Farmhouse Co-op in March of 1939 was addressed as “To Rural Electrification Customers.” It said, “You have probably received a wiring contract from PEC. If there is anything that you do not understand about this contract, we are in a position to be of service to you.”

An article from the October 1939 edition of the Sentinel News reported that Joe Fritz, from Junction, was building a large tourist camp on Highway 29 in Buchanan Dam. The first building would be a 40’ x 80’cafe, to be followed by ten double cabins. “All these buildings are to be of native stone, and will be modern in every respect.”

An editorial commended Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Foulds as updating cabins forBurnet for many years. “In horse-and-buggy days,” the writer said, Mr. Foulds was engaged in the livable business for a number of years.” After that, he carried an RFD mail route for about 15 years,” the article continued, “while it was the interest of his town and community. He has lived a clean, good life and raised a nice family, four girls and two boys.”

One of his sons worked with Guthrie Smith; one of his daughters was Secretary and Treasurer for the City of Burnet.

Another personal column mourned the death of Dr. W.J. Moore, a legend in Kingsland, Fairplay, and Lakeway (or Wolf’s Crossing) and well-known in Burnet and Marble Falls. The writer noted that Dr. Moore had never had a razor on his face, but also said “if there ever has been a man who lived the Golden rule to the letter,” it was Dr. Moore. A follow-up article mentioned the loss of another old-timer, G.J. Harwell, and reminisced about meeting Dr. Moore in 1890 at Lakeway. The writer (presumably L.C. Chamberlain) noted that he had been born on the J.P. Noble ranch in Llano, and remembered when the town had a gin, a post office, and a blacksmith shop in the early 1890s. His first visit to Burnet had been in 1926, and he remarked that “there is a vast difference” from then to 1939.

An Open House Anniversary Celebration was planned by Company 85 of the Civilian Conservation Corps, to be held at Longhorn Cavern State Park on April 7th. In addition to tours of the camp and the cavern, there would be a softball game between the CCC team and the team from the nearby National Youth Administration camp.

An ad in the March 1939 edition announced that Granite Station Grocery was “now open for business” on Hwy 66 (now 281). The store promised “first-class merchandise at reasonable prices,” “cold drinks, candies, cigarettes, etc., CURB SERVICE,” and added “bring us your chickens and eggs for better prices.”

Publisher L.C. Chamberlain of the Burnet Bulletin told of a recent visit to Mount Zion Hill in a front-page article on April 2nd. He recalled a trip made 32 years before, when a covered wagon with his father, his grandparents (Kimes, Kimes, and his uncle John) the mill was where his father took it to have it made into flour. It was during “the week of the great sale of town lots in Marble Falls.” The group swam across the pond, which seemed much larger than it is now. Mr. Chamberlain mentioned that it had been owned by the family of Mrs. Price Kimerer for “perhaps three-quarters of a century” at the time of the article. On the recent trip, the group continued to Marble Falls, then “came back by Longhorn Cavern and made the circle into Burnet on the new Park Road where the CCC Boys are building from Longhorn State Park to Inks Dam.” The road is not yet completed to the Llano Valley highway, but it is easy to travel. A fine job is being made of this road, and from it may be observed some beautiful scenery.

An April article noted that “every engineer and engineer” Mr. S.S. Faber started on the preliminary fire surveying in Burnet County for the rural electrification project. They have their offices in the courthouse. Eighteen men were eventually working out of six offices in the 8-county project. Staking was expected to take four months, and construction of distribution lines would begin in June, when staking was 25% complete.

The Granite Station Grocery offered “Friday and Saturday Specials,” including...
The middle of this 1927 building was Burnet High School in 1939. The Burnet County Historical Commission will be dedicating a historical marker there at 10 a.m. on Saturday, November 12.

new potatoes for three and a half cents per pound. Delicious apples for 20 cents a dozen, a “No. 2 Can” of June Peas or Kraut, just seven cents a speech, or twenty pounds of corn meal for 46 cents.

A “bad tornado” passed through Burnet County on April 16 (perhaps the most destructive ever). It crossed down near Kingsland and passed through Marble Falls before heading north. It took part of the roof off General Adam Johnson’s factory and destroyed the barns of Henry Fester and E.H. Hall just south of Burnet. Trees were uprooted and blown down all along the tornado’s path.

A front-page article on April 20 reported that “Topping of Hwy 29 from two miles west of Burnet to the Williamson County line was started last Saturday. The highway had been ready for paving the previous fall, but cold weather prevented workers from doing it. The article also noted that “when completed, Hwy 29 will be topped a mile or two west of Buchanan Dam to Austin, and 66 will be topped entirely through Burnet County. If added that “Llano County is getting ready to complete Hwy 29” to Llano, “but this road will have to be seeded a year or two before it can be paved.”

The lure of WPA, money and the problem of overcrowded schools led to a momentous decision near the end of April. A $25,000 bond (which would be matched by a $35,000 WPA grant) was approved on April 25 by the voters of Burnet. The expansion plan included tearing down the 1898 limestone school (probably the tallest -- 75 feet to the top of the bell tower -- and first building ever constructed in Burnet), adding four new classrooms in a new wing at the 1897 brick high school, and constructing a new school building on land to be acquired by the district. According to the Bulletin, “many people in the district consider it folly to tear down that building, and the Bulletin is with that number regardless of what engineers and the State Board of Education may say or think about it. It has stood for some 40 years as a monument to education at this place, and it appears to many that it would be almost a desecration to destroy it.”

The Texas Highway Department announced that it had added almost 4,000 miles of highway to its inventory during the 1930s, bringing the total to 1,473 miles. There were more than 100,000 signs on these highways, many “reflorated” for night visibility, and more than 6,000 miles of highway now had a stripe painted in the center of the road.

T.O. Whitaker circulated a “subscription paper” at the end of April, for the purpose of raising funds to improve the road to the head rains in northwestern Burnet County. He argued that the new road, equipped with cattle guards instead of false stone cages, would improve access to the burnet county side of Lake Buchanan. He hoped to have the work underway by the time fishing season started.

An ad for Roy Fry (Revell’s) Drug Store advertised a complete stock of fishing supplies and announced the start of fishing season as May 1. Other ads announced the openings of Rainbow Coffee Shop (Meriby Sample, Proprietor) and Hulham’s Cash & Carry (across from Loui Laundry on Route 66—“Good Quality, Filling Station and Garage”), plus the one-year anniversary of Seidensticker’s Men’s Store (Blue Chabria, downtown, about 40 cents; tennis shoes, 60 cents).

Congressman Lyndon Johnson announced final approval of two huge projects: the construction of power lines for rural electrification (already underway) and the upgrade of the Marshall Ford Dam, which meant a huge increase in the storage capacity of Lake Texoma, better flood-control capability for the LCRA (and a very probable government contract for L.J.O.’s good friend, Herman Frear). The Highland Lakes area had come through the Great Depression with remarkable progress and prosperity, but World War II was about to take center stage. That was 1940.
One of the “suspects” from Texas Mystery Parties, of Conroe, conducts an interview with some of the guests at Trailblazer Grille during the “Scare on the Square” murder mystery production in Burnet last Saturday. Suspects went from table to table, answering questions from guests who were trying to solve the mystery.

A large and enthusiastic crowd attended the Trunk or Treat party organized by the PTO in front of Highland Lakes Elementary School in Burnet on Saturday. There were all kinds of activities and treats for the costumed kids.

These brave young folks were in the front of the line for the Haunted House at the Llano County Community Center last Saturday night. The Haunted House will be open again this weekend and next Monday (October 29 & 31), from 8 to 11 p.m., both evenings.

Artists Jeremy Serna led a very entertaining and educational “Group Painting Party” at the JKL Event Center in Llano on Monday evening, and twenty-one aspiring artists ended up with at least fair replicas of his colorful cow painting. Organizers hope to make the event a monthly tradition in Llano, the next class is scheduled for the evening of Monday, November 14 (see more photos on the “Highland Lakes Weekly” Facebook page).
The Jazz Merchants (Jim Ivy, Jim Wynne and Richard Golladay) provided live entertainment for diners at Forno’s Restaurant (located at the LBJ Yacht Club in Horseshoe Bay) last Friday night.

The Skylarks, an off-shoot of the well-known Flashbacks band, treated guests at Fuel Coffee House in Llano to an evening of wonderful music last Saturday.

In a weekly tradition at Burnet’s Cafe 2300, musician Randy Wright sang old-time country songs for diners last Friday evening. Cafe owners Tom and Peggy Henson recently held a Chamber Mixer to celebrate their 20 years in business in Burnet (starting with the Castle Shop on Jackson Street in 1996).

The Numinous Coffee Roaster shop, located on Hwy 281, is becoming a very active community gathering place. In the photo above, the Highland Lakes Farmers Market held its first Tuesday Market at Numinous this week (it will be held from 3 to 6 p.m. each Tuesday). A local photographer opened an exhibit of her spectacular world-wide travel photos at Numinous last Saturday. Also at left: Dan Chapman was one of four talented Austin musicians who provided live entertainment at the popular coffee shop.

Pet of the Week

This is Ramona. She is a Domestic Short Hair, around 2 1/2 yrs old, and very sweet. She raised her babies, and now it’s her time to get loved on and have a family of her own. Ramona is ready for adoption at the Hill Country Humane Society. It would only be $35 to adopt her under our Fall Special (which lasts until October 31). If you would like more information on Ramona, or any of our awesome pets, please call the shelter at 512-793-3463. The shelter is open Thursday through Monday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.
