Main Street Bethlehem!
(this weekend and next)

A family gathers for a meal in “Ancient Bethlehem” last year during Burnet’s wonderful dramatization of the little town as it may have appeared at the time of Christ’s birth. The “town,” located off Hwy 29 between the Burnet square and H.E.B., will be open (weather permitting) from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, this weekend and next (December 2-4 & 9-11). For lots more of the planned Christmas activities around the Highland Lakes, see “Upcoming Events,” beginning on page 2.

Upcoming Events

Local sculptor Dan Pogue, who helped start the Sculpture on Main project in downtown Marble Falls more than ten years ago, installed his entry in this year’s event on Tuesday morning. The year-long display will be kicked off with a gala event this Friday in the Lakeside Pavilion.

By JOHN HALLOWELL

An inaugural event for the 2016 Sculpture on Main, a year-long sculpture exhibit in downtown Marble Falls, will be held on Main Street and at the Marble Falls Lakeside Pavilion by the Highland Lakes Creative Arts Association (“The Arts”) from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday, December 2 (see ad on page 12).

The Lighthouse Country Club in Kingsland will host a 90th birthday party for former PGA pro golfer Red Davis, beginning at 6 p.m. on Friday, December 2 (see ad on this page).

The Marble Falls Kiwanis Club will present its 2nd Annual Christmas Program, featuring the music of John Arthur Martineau, Rex Paul Schnelle, the Highland Lakes Men’s Chorus and the Hill Country Benders, all at the First Baptist Church, First Baptist Fellowship, 5 p.m. this Friday, December 2. Tickets are $15, and guests are invited to bring a “$10 and under” toy. Proceeds will benefit local charities.

Burnett’s amazing Main Street Bethlehem production will open at 8 p.m. on Friday, December 2. It will be open on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings (weather permitting; the first two weekends in December).

Kingsland Family Christmas will be held at the community center from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., December 3 (see ad on page 9).

Llano will host a big day of Christmas activities on Saturday, December 3. The Reindeer Fun Run will begin at 9 a.m. The Women’s Culture Club Home Tour (tickets available at the Llano Visitor Center & Chamber or at the Culture Club Home at 200 West Sandstone) will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. A Slip ‘N Slide event will be held in downtown Llano that evening, and Santa will arrive to sound out the evening in the Lighted Christmas Parade at around 6:30 p.m.

Also on Saturday, December 3, the Falls on the Colorado Museum will sponsor its annual Victorian Christmas Open House at the Christian-Moore House at 603 East Seventh Street in Marble Falls. The event will start at 6 p.m. Jeff Hughes will perform at the Globe Theatre in Bertram, also this Saturday evening.

Sandstone Street Ikki, in Llano, will host a Jingle Bell Christmas Tea at 3 p.m. on Sunday, December 4. Call 325-423-2581 for reservations or info.

The Sunrise Beach Christmas Concert will be held at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, December 16 at First Baptist Sunrise Beach. Refreshments will follow the performance. The church is located at 1690 W 2233 in Sunrise Beach.

The Texas A&M University Department of Architecture will present architectural designs for the future Pharr’s Center campus at Lake Shorea Church in Marble Falls (704 Hwy 281 N) at 1 p.m. on Monday, December 5.

The Lakeshore Library in Buchanan Dam will host a "Spirit of Christmas" concert by the Bluebonnet Chorale at noon on Tuesday, December 6. Space is limited and a light lunch will be served. For more information, call the library at 325-379-1174 or reserve a place.

The Friends of the Llano Library Chili Lunch will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, December 8, at the Library.

Novelist Kay Ellington and Barbaram Bramson will speak about their Parish and Rectory books at the German Brown Free Library’s “Coffee Talks” program (on the square in Burnet) at 2 p.m. on Thursday, December 8. Come early for refreshments and conversation.

Scatterthought

It’s the Christmas season, and I’m starting to wonder if I’ll survive the next two weeks. Despite a good rain over Thanksgiving weekend, I was already panicking by Tuesday. And if this paper looks OK, it’s a miracle (but – as I write this just before deadline – I sincerely doubt that I’ve caught all the mistakes; there were so many, and some were so ridiculous, that I feel like I’ve really “lost” this time around. Instead of wasting space listing my mistakes, I’ll tell you about something else related to business. I want everyone to be aware of the amazing works of art going up in Marble Falls for this year’s Sculpture on Main project. The kick-off for 2016 is scheduled for this Friday, and a new feature will be indoor displays of “local” sculptures, on display for sale at the Lakeside Pavilion (see ad on page 12).

I hear that the Granite Shoals’ Christmas by the Highway lighting display will be officially opened at 6 p.m. this Friday (December 2). That will be the complete impressive circle of public lighting displays in the Highland Lakes area: Marble Falls, Burnet and Llano have already been doing theirs. The public is invited to drop by at least a few days early. Marble Falls will be on Friday, December 1, at the Highland Lakes Elementary School.

King’s Ranch is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday, December 3, at the King’s Ranch Community Center. The library has sent a message from the Friends of the King’s Ranch Library: “Christmas season is an ideal time to remember others with a donation to the King’s Ranch Library through the Friends of the Library. Your gift will honor someone who enjoys enjoyed reading for knowledge and entertainment. Please send a message to the library’s open house on December 6 from 3 to 6 p.m. at the library.

There are many Real Estate signs on front lawns these days. But only one can offer representation in over 75 counties with over 6,000 offices!

If you are thinking about putting your property on the market, consider these facts:

* Century 21 Real Estate LLC is the franchisor of the world's largest residential real estate sales organization.
* Century 21 is the most recognized name in real estate.
* Century 21 Keiser & Co. has successfully represented buyers and sellers in the Highland Lakes area for 40 years.

Curriculum knowledge, expertise, and total commitment to your goals drive a selling process that runs smoothly and achieves success.

2016 has been a great year in sales with the Century 21 Keiser & Co. family. We have passed on a lot of keys, and will continue doing so in the future. We want to say “Thank You” to the community and (given the opportunity) we would like to pass on your keys too.

Charlotte Dilworth, owner of Kingsland Health & Fitness Center and organizer of last Friday’s “After-Turkey” Turkey Trot 5K and Kids 1 Mile, introduced Mary Kaplan of the Texas 254 Running Club, who has run a 5K in all 254 Texas counties, to an appreciative crowd of runners and walkers early Friday morning.

After giving the group of walkers a 15-minute head start, this group of runners left the starting line at 6:15 a.m. last Friday. The Kids 1-Mile Race followed at 9 a.m.

Medallists from each of the categories gathered for a group picture at Kingsland Health & Fitness Center after the races were over. The event raised money for the Sharing the Harvest Food pantry in Kingsland.

Kingsland’s Small Business Saturday event, headquartered at the First Baptist Church (above) and joined by individual shops around town, drew a good crowd of hometown shoppers last weekend.

A steady stream of customers and friends joined owners Chelsea Cleedmen-Morrow and Vivian Ferris Rickard as they celebrated the 2nd anniversary of their Protea Salon & Spa in Kingsland on Wednesday afternoon.

Workers began setting up forms Monday for the foundation of an addition at the Grand Central Cafe in Kingsland. Designed to fit in well with the architecture of the former “Texas Chainsaw Massacre” house, the addition will serve as an extra dining room and a more spacious home for the Club Car Bar, currently located on the cafe’s second floor.

Finishing touches are being made at the former Kingsland Medical Plaza (including a resurrected parking lot), and the old Scott & White clinic will soon be ready for retail tenants. Several businesses are already open in the recently-rejuvenated plaza.
By JOHN HALLLOWELL

Llano County got off to a pretty good start in 1935, as most local businesses reported “good holiday business through December.” The Llano News attributed the busy Christmas season “much better than in 1934” to “more money in circulation.” Net only had the federal government “sent out $500,000 in checks to farmers and ranch- men in this county” during the previous twelve months, but prices had also increased for local commodities (including cotton, pecans, and turkeys).

A new commissioner court was seated on January 1, with J.W. Carroll re-capturing the judge seat after a two-year hiatus. Archel Ramirez was sworn in as “the only sitting commissioner after being out of this office for four years.” Luther Nobles had been appointed to fill the commissioners’ place due to illness, and S.S. Smith would be in charge of the county jail.

Deputy Smith was greeted with an escape attempt on his first night as jailer, when two inmates were overheard trying to cut through the bars of their cell with some smuggled-in tools (including a three-inch hacksaw blade). Aubrey Ham and Horace Fry were moved to a different cell for the remainder of the night, and arrested by Sheriff Stewart to Huntsville the next day.

Mrs. H.H. Tarrence, the local observer for the United States Weather Bureau, reported that 21.32 inches of rain had fallen in Llano in 1934, up from 18.50 inches in 1933, but 5 inches below average and far short of the 32.40 inches in 1932. The highest temperature in Llano in 1934, recorded on three separate days in June, was 109 degrees, the lowest recorded in January and once in February, was 31 degrees. Clay Dowdy, the county administrator, reported that ten Llano County homes were currently undergoing construction under the “Rural Rehabilitation” program of the Relief authorities.” Five were in the Lone Grove area, and five around Valley Springs.

Carl H. Green, a former Llano County rancher who had moved to Oklahoma, was in town for a visit that January. The paper reported that he was “one of the largest buyers of feeder cattle,” and shipped “many thousand head of Llano County cattle to his ranches in Oklahoma.”

Cotton farmer C.L. hailed one of the largest cotton crops in Llano County, and advertised 150 pounds of “Jacks Skrit” for 25 cents, 8 pounds of “Mary Kaye Car- nage” for 10 cents, and “Dear Brand” corn meal and “Green Brand” corn meal. Smith carefully tended the corn in 1934, and “Spuds” were just 19 cents to 30 cents, but 10 pounds of sugar cost 50 cents. Piggly Wiggly’s store advertised a gallon of “Blue Brier Rabbit syrup” for 50 cents, 45 pounds of “American Beauty” peaches and a pound of Swift’s pork & beans for just 6 cents. The Texas Light & Power Company bought a large ad to celebrate “Its 25th Year of Service.”

The “Stampa Quitter” was reported to be progressing rapidly at Llano High School, and described it as “one of the most successful to be found anywhere in Texas.” A cinder track would surround the playing field which could accommodate baseball or football. The “Stampa Quitter” was printed every two weeks, and distributed to all members of the Llano County Singing Convention to attend a meeting on January 3 at the Llano County courthouse. The “Stampa Quitter” was printed at the meeting.
Thanksgiving by the Lakes

There were a number of great community Thanksgiving Dinners around the Highland Lakes area last Thursday. The photo above was taken at the Vandervort Church of Christ in Burnet, where several churches joined to provide a feast for all.

At right, an inflatable turkey “Pilgrim” sits by the street to invite passers-by to the feast at Lutie Watkins Memorial United Methodist Church in Llano.

Fuel Coffee House, on East Main Street in Llano, was the venue for another Community Thanksgiving Dinner last Thursday. Volunteers (“Friends of Fuel”) Connie Burney, Bryan Rodriguez and Lydia Leath helped serve the crowd there. In addition to serving as a wonderful music venue, Fuel has become a real community center. Texas Country Reporter Bob Phillips paid a visit this past week to interview the Knitting Club which meets at Fuel every Monday.

Third-grader Jordan Hussien, who earned the honor by winning a coloring contest at Panksepp Elementary School in Kingsland, prepares to flip the switch that turned on the courthouse Christmas lights in Llano last Wednesday evening. Her proud parents (Travis and Brandie Hussien, of Sunriss Beach) were joined by a group of Llano residents as they witnessed the spectacle.

This photo doesn’t do justice to the beautiful lights on and around the Llano courthouse, but it will give you an idea of the treat that visitors can expect in downtown Llano (in addition to the Starry Starry Nights lighting display on the north side of the Llano River). Festivities included photos with Santa, live music, roasted marshmallows and hot chocolate, cookie decorating and a walk through the wonderland of twinkling lights in Llano.

Sente and Mrs. Claus arrived by firetruck at Badd Park last Friday evening for Opening Night at Llano’s first “Starry Starry Nights” lighting display on the north side of the Llano River. Festivities included photos with Santa, live music, roasted marshmallows and hot chocolate, cookie decorating and a walk through the wonderland of twinkling lights in Llano.

Christmas in Llano

A crowd gathered just before 6 p.m. last Friday to welcome Santa and Mrs. Claus to the entrance of Llano’s “Starry Starry Nights” lighting display.

Photos with this Texan Santa were one of many attractions at Badu Park in Llano last Friday evening.

The lights of the “Starry Starry Nights” are reflected on the Llano River in this picture, taken from the south end of the Llano bridge.
