The wonderful Wheelers for the Wounded event attracted a large crowd of offroaders and veterans to Hidden Falls Adventure Park (off Hwy 1431 east of Marble Falls) for a day of fun and adventure in a beautiful Hill Country setting last Saturday. Family members of the honored guests were also welcomed, and special activities were provided for all the family. See more “Wheelers” photos on page 9, and even more on the “Highland Lakes Weekly” Facebook page.
The big events this weekend will be the Marble Falls MayFest and the Burnet County Rodeo. The rodeo will be held at the rodeo grounds in Burnet (behind the airport) on Friday and Saturday nights. Legendary rodeo clown Leon Coffee, pictured above in his rattlesnake jamboree two years ago, will return to Burnet for the weekend.

CANCELED (SORRY!)
Scatterthought

By JOHN HALLOWELL

Well, my sixth anniversary celebration was overshadowed by a flat tire and four days without air conditioning in business and I still have a chance of keeping my consecutive-deadline-meeting string alive at 309. The mathematician among you will note that there have been 314 Fridays in the past six years, but that accounts for two weeks that I skipped after the first “trial” issue of the Highland Lakes Weekly, and three vacations that I have taken since then (there were no deadlines those weeks). I am planning another vacation for this summer, and if I get any older I will consider taking two each year (one in the middle of the winter, and one in the middle of the summer), I believe that I have “earned” some of those vacations by producing magazines for the King Harold Club (I know I’m bragging, but I hope you’ll forgo me for taking some satisfaction from that track record).

Two of my favorite encounters this week were the retirement party for pharmacist Charlie Brown and a meeting with World War II veteran Louis Mitzler (who, it turns out, played a much larger role than I had realized in Kingslad’s rebirth during the 1960s). You can read a little about them on page six, but I hope to have much more detailed follow-up stories soon.

I also had a great time at several area events, particularly the Wheelers for the Wounded event at Hidden Falls Ranch and the Howdy-Roo Cook-Off in Marble Falls. You’ll see pictures from those events elsewhere in this paper.

Unfortunately, some things didn’t go so well. I hope you’ll all take a look at the ad on page 9 for “It’s Here” Sandra Parlin’s very nice little shop, and she really meant to advertise last week for her new Mother’s Day and Graduation items. We got our signals crossed, and the ad didn’t get into last week’s paper; I think it was mostly my fault. I may have to start taking Prevegan or something to help my memory (but keep forgetting!) among the “business” items I’d like to mention this week is the skin-cancer screening at Baylor Scott & White this Friday morning. You have to make an appointment, and it only lasts from 8 to noon, but it’s free, and if you are an early reader, you might still have time to call 830-201-7248.

This Saturday is the day for the Blue Lake Golf Club Fun Day Rally. There will be a golf tournament, putt-putt golf, a silent auction, raffles, dinner, etc., to raise funds for the beautiful 55-year-old golf course (when the Comanche Club first opened in Granite Shoals, there were only three golf courses in the entire Highland Lakes area. Management initiated a “water taxi” to take guests and their golf clubs across the lake to Blue Lake!).

Comissioner Mike Sandovall (Llano County Precinct 3) will be holding another town hall meeting on Tuesday, May 16. This one will be at the Kingsland Community Church (across Hwy 1431 from Subway); it will go from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The inspiring movie, “Grace Unplugged,” will be showing at the all new drive-in theatre at Cross & Spurs Cowboy Church in Buchanan Dam on Friday, May 26. They have an outdoor screen, and you can listen on your car’s FM radio! Popcorn is free, but drinks will cost a dollar each; the show begins when it gets dark.

A local security won top honors at the state convention in Corpus Christi last weekend. Lambda Nu, of Kingsland, won first place for chapters with 11 plus members, and Jessamy Par- num won first place for outstanding educational director. This district, which also includes Epsilon Pi in Burnet and Delta Zeta in Marble Falls, won third place overall.

I was delighted to hear that the Hill Country Community Theatre is naming its scholarship fund for the Youth Summer Theatre Program in honor of Bob Turbough. The program, which is called Hill Country Children’s Theatre Fund will cover the tuition for children from low-income families, allowing them to attend the program. The purpose of the Youth Summer Theatre Program is to teach the fundamentals of acting, as well as leadership skills and how to be a team member by being part of an ensemble. For more information about HCT’s Summer Theatre Program, please call the theatre at (830) 693-2474 or email director@chefHCTT.org.
A crowd of volunteers gathered for this photo at the Mothers Day Spa Day in the Kingsland Community Center last Saturday. A steady stream of guests was pampered at the unique event, sponsored by Smoking for Jesus Ministry and Claudette’s Closet.

This was the manicure table at the Spa Day last Saturday. The event also included free food and music, free pedicures, and a selection of free “gently used shoes and clothing.”

Nancy Bardouche and Diane Langley, of the Kingsland Garden Club, show off the decorations at the Antlers Hotel conference room for the club’s “end-of-year” meeting. Members ate at the Grand Central Cafe, then met to elect officers for the coming year.

Accomplished genealogist Richard Hooverson addressed last Tuesday’s meeting of the Kingsland Genealogy Society of the Highland Lakes, telling members about tried and true research techniques at the Kingsland Library. Originally from Wisconsin, Mr. Hooverson is a Fellow of the Texas Genealogical Society, and has had articles published in several respected magazines.
Raffle tickets for this beautiful Sea Doo are available now at the Kingsland Chamber office. The Sea Doo will be displayed at various businesses around town during May and June; the winning ticket will be drawn before the Aqua Boom fireworks on the 4th of July.

Most of Kingsland’s old Highland Lakes Shopping Center is already gone, but the shell of the original bank (above and below) remains standing while workers stabilize the iconic front wall with the mosaic map of the Highland Lakes. Once that wall is secured, the rest of the bank will be very carefully dismantled. The new Prosperity Bank will include the historic wall and map in its design.

WE’VE MOVED!
We are now open for business in our new location between Wells Fargo Bank and the Kingsland Library.
The staff at Kingsland Healthmart Pharmacy honored Charlie Bowen with a retirement party last Saturday. Mr. Bowen came to Kingsland from the Houston area, and opened Bowen Pharmacy in July of 1963 at the old Hill Enterprises building on Chamberlain Street. He built his new store in 1966 on what would later become RR 2305. He sold the store and retired in 1998, but was coaxed out of retirement and has been working on Saturdays in recent years.

A slightly-younger-looking Charlie Bowen posed in front of his original drugstore on Chamberlain Street in the early 1960s. That building, then called the Hill Enterprises building, was enlarged and used for years as the Llano County Annex. The original part of the building served as the office for Constable Bill Edwards.

Louis Motzler, of Burnet, came to Kingsland with two of his friends (Karl Pichl, left, and George Pangborn) on Wednesday morning. He is a World War II veteran who built many homes and business houses in Kingsland and Buchanan Dam during the early 1960s, and had the plastering contract for the Highland Lakes Shopping Center in 1964. As the area’s Marblecrete franchisee, he also installed the finishing coat on the exterior walls, including the iconic “map wall” on the front of the Highland Lakes National Bank. His headquarters was in the little building now occupied by Doni Mattingly’s Nail Salon (which he built), and he knew and worked with many of the other pioneers of Kingsland’s resurgence in the 1960s (including Woody McCasland, Frank Weise, Bill McGee, Odie Ainsworth, Bill Bransford and Bud Lenz). He also was instrumental in the founding of Chapel of the Hills in Buchanan Dam in 1967, and purchased the Floyd Acres subdivision in Buchanan Dam from founder Ira Floyd.
Johnson Park was filled with cooking teams, vendors, judges and spectators during the 46th Annual Howdy-Roo Chili (and BBQ) Cook-Off, sponsored by the Highland Lakes Pod of the Chili Appreciation Society, International (CASi) last weekend.

An honored guest was Terlingua’s World Champion Chili Cooker, Lisa Edmonson Stone (from Kempner). In addition to competing, she also helped monitor the final judging (see photo below).

Judges at the Howdy-Roo Cook-Off enjoyed their challenging jobs last Saturday afternoon, as dozens of teams submitted samples of their excellent chili.

The ladies of Llano’s Woman’s Culture Club wore their finest (including hats and gloves for many in attendance) to Monday’s Presidents Tea at the historic Watkins House. The annual event honors past presidents as new officers are installed and scholarships are presented.

Llano High School seniors Cameron Hall and Dane Black each received a $1,750 scholarship (and a delicious lunch) from the Woman’s Culture Club at Monday’s meeting.

A good crowd turned out for the Spicewood Arts Society’s annual “Toast to Tony” event, where musicians, friends and fans honored the late jazz legend Tony Campise at Spicewood Vineyards.

In keeping with the New Orleans-themed jazz music event, the food trailer from the Real New Orleans Style Restaurant in Marble Falls catered to hungry guests at the “Toast to Tony” last Friday evening.

Dozens of Jeeps (and other 4-wheel-drive vehicles) were lined up to offer rides to veterans and their family members, and more were arriving when this photo was taken Saturday morning.

The growing crowd was served a delicious BBQ meal before going out on the trails at Hidden Falls Adventure Park, off Highway 1431 about seven miles east of Marble Falls.

Brianna Birdwell, of Llano, waits with her son in her Toyota Land Cruiser to take a veteran or family member on an off-roading adventure last Saturday. Many drivers were from the Highland Lakes area, but others came from far away to participate in the wonderful event.

Organizers Wendy Armour and Paula Mays-Hall lead the crowd of runners and walkers to the starting line at the 5K Run for Recovery on the Manzano Mile in Marble Falls last Saturday morning. The event raised funds for the Open Door Recovery House in Marble Falls.

Spectators held encouraging signs as the crowd got some last-minute instructions at the starting line.

And then they were off! It was a great way to raise money for a very good cause; Open Door is a faith-based, residential alcohol and drug recovery house for women, with a track record of good results.

Pet of the Week

My name is Pepper Paws. I am a 3-yr-old spayed female, domestic short hair, torti (color) cat. I love to run and romp around the cattery, playing with toys and being brushed. The volunteers and staff here at HCHS say I am full of personality. If you would like to meet me, call Hill Country Humane Society at 512-793-5483 and ask for Pepper Paws, or come on by and visit me at the shelter Thursday through Monday (11 a.m. to 4 p.m.)

My adoption fee is only $75. Check out my other adoptable pals at www.hillcountryhumanesociety.org.
