It is HLW's studied opinion that Kingsland's Aqua Boom is the biggest and best Independence Day celebration in the entire Hill Country of Texas, and (even though many other towns are planning great events) the place to be this Fourth of July weekend. Events begin with a Patriotic Dinner and an Aqua Boom Kick-Off Party on Friday night, then continue through the first four days of July. The parades and the fireworks show will be held on Tuesday, July 4. See ads on pages 9 and 11 for more details.
UPCOMING EVENTS

One of the highlights of Llano’s Rock’n Riverfest is the Sea Doo River Race, scheduled to begin at noon on Saturday, July 1.

By JOHN HALLOWELL

Lakeshore Library will host a songwriting and performance event called Kickin’ It Off at 7 p.m. on Friday, June 30. The event is free and open to the public; call 325-379-1174 for reservations or more information.

Calvary and Grace (on the west side of the Llano Square) will host a Poetry Night from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday, June 30. You are invited to bring poems to read. (by you or by your favorite poet).

Chapel of the Hills will host its annual Veterans Day, a precursor to Llano’s huge Aha Boom festival, from 5:30 p.m. on the evening of Friday, June 30.

There will be an Aquah Boom Kick-Off Party at The Place Downtown in Llano, across from the police station, this Friday evening. The event, which will feature live music by Clayton Jones, will begin at 7 p.m.

Blue Lake Estates will hold its Independence Day celebration on Saturday, July 1, with a parade at 9 a.m., followed by a fireworks show for all ages and a lakeside cookout. The fireworks show will be held at night at Wimans Park. The Hill Country Humane Society will hold another “Show and Shine” event at Ace’s Hardware in Horseshoe Bay, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, July 1. Dr. Dan McBride will be on hand to answer any of your pet health questions. They will also offer low-cost microchipping ($25) and nail clipping ($5).

Llano’s Aha Boom festival will begin at 7 a.m. on July 1. The big day, of course, will be Tuesday, July 4, when the parade and fireworks show will be held. Lighthouse Country Club will host a State Championship BBQ Cook-Off & CASI Chili Cook-Off, scheduled for June 30 and July 1. The Highland Lakes Flyers will host their Flights of Fancy remote-controlled aircraft show from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, July 1, at Hank Nilsen Field in Kingsland, and the Miss Aqua Boom pageant will begin at noon on Sunday, July 2, to benefit their annual Patriotic Concert. The Riverfront Revue band will provide live music for a street dance, scheduled for Thursday, July 15, at 7 p.m. in downtown Llano. See ads on pages 9 and 11 for more information.

Llano will host its Rock’n Riverfest on Saturday, July 1 and Sunday, July 2. There will be fireworks both nights, and the new splash pad at Badu Park will be unveiled at 10 a.m. on Sunday. There will also be Jet Ski races, a BBQ Cook-Off, a car show and more on Saturday.

Horseshoe Bay will hold a land parade at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, July 4, followed by a boat parade at 10:30. A concert will be held on the waterfront at 8 p.m., followed by fireworks after dark.

Marble Falls will have live music at Lakeside Park, beginning at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, July 4. The music will be followed by a fireworks show at dusk.

The Briggs VFD will host a free night of fun for the whole family from 5 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday, July 4, on Hwy. 183 at Loop 308 in eastern Burnet County. There will be games, music, food and fireworks.

HAPPY 4TH OF JULY

Come to Kingsland for a wonderful Aqua Boom!
Kingsland is getting ready for this weekend's Aqua Boom festival, and quite a few organizations (including Lenz-Gann Insurance, above) are gearing up with red, white and blue. The festivities will begin this Friday night with a Veterans Dinner at Chapel of the Hills in Buchanan Dam, then continue through the long weekend until next Tuesday, the Fourth of July.

Scatterthought

I have to start this week’s column with a shout-out to the good folks at the Lake Buchanan Conservation Corporation (LBCC). Not only do they create fish habitat and stock the lake, install docks, do cleanup projects and give out scholarships, when they see that the Highland Lakes area needs a little rain, they schedule a golf tournament! I’m told that they’ve re-scheduled for September 16 to keep your umbrellas handy.

Not only did last week’s winds help our lakes and rivers, they gave your overworked editor a little bit of a break. I used the rain as an excuse to skip a few outdoor events (probably cancelled anyway, right?) and get more sleep than I can remember getting in quite a while. I got a little house-cleaning done, and I started to catch up with my paperwork.

But it didn’t seem to really clear my head, and I easily met my week’s quota for stupid mistakes. I may never recover all those brain cells that I lost by not getting enough sleep.

I did remember to go to the TxDOT photoshoot at Kingsland’s First Baptist Church, and was delighted to see an overflow crowd in attendance. From what I hear, TxDOT was impressed by what they saw and heard. HWY 1431 will remain a 4-lane road for now.

Commissioner Mike Sandoval seemed to be the driving force behind those meetings, although County Judge Mary Cunningham and Commissioner Linda Raschke certainly lent their support. He has been very active and accessible as commissioner, and I hear he has also recently volunteered to serve as the county’s Veterans Services Officer. I’m not sure exactly what that entails, but if you are a veteran who needs services, give him a call.

Some others who deserve a little recognition for their accomplishments are the five young gymnasts from Tuck N Tumble who recently returned from the national competition in Madison, Wisconsin. I’ve been tremendously impressed by their skills at local meets and demonstrations, but I am even more impressed to realize that they have held their own in competition with the best from all around the country.

There are two festivals going on right now, and winning tickets for both will be drawn on the Fourth of July. One is the Chamber’s traditional Sea Doo raffle, and the other is a Friends of Kingsland Library raffle for a package including 50 lbs. of beef, a new grill and more. Tickets are $5 for 1 and $20 for 5. Call 713-410-4295 for sale locations.

The Hill Country Humane Society will be holding another “Show-n-Shine” with Ace Hardware in Horseshoe Bay this Saturday (from 11 to 1). They’ve also been holding an “over 30” promotion; all animals that have been at the shelter more than 30 days can be adopted for only $30.

Genesis Lutheran Church, on Hwy 29 in Buchanan Dam, is hosting a pillowcase dress-making workshop on Friday, July 21, and Saturday, July 22. You can learn to make girls’ dresses from pillow cases, even if you don’t know how to sew (but if you do sew, feel free to bring your machine). Completed projects can be taken home or donated to the Orphan Grain Train Relief Organization. All materials will be supplied at no cost, and refreshments will be served all day! Call the church office at 512-793-6800 for more information.

The staff and board of CASA invites everyone to attend a farewell (and appreciation) party for departing executive director Kristen Harris, to be held from 4 to 6 p.m. on Thursday, August 1, at the Hill Country Community Foundation building at the corner of Jackson and Boundary Streets in Burnet (across from the Burnet Community Center).

The Highland Lakes Pregnancy Resource Center is planning its Golf Fore Life tournament at Lighthouse Country Club in Kingsland on September 9, and its Celebrate Life Banquet on October 24. Actress Lauren Roman will be the guest speaker at that event.

The Spicewood Arts Society is planning its fourteen annual Arts Roundup, scheduled for Oct. 28-29 at LaCantera Grill on Highway 71, Spicewood. They are now soliciting artist applications. This is a cost-effective event that is fun for artists and guests alike.

Scott Standhart, of Privilege Builders, shows off another well-built but relatively affordable home, at 1622 Navajo Trail in Kingsland. He has been in the construction business for nearly 20 years, and moved here to Kingsland about 10 years ago. Working with investor Andrea Mangar, of Austin, he builds spec homes and custom homes, mostly with lake access and mostly under $200,000, in the Kingsland/Lake LBJ area. This nearly-completed home, in the Granite Shoals Lake Shore subdivision in Kingsland, has three bedrooms, two baths and all the modern conveniences (see ad on page 6).

A mild-mannered insurance agent by day, Sam Williams divides his evening and weekend free time between country music and steer wrestling (see photos below). He earned a business degree at Tarleton State in 2015, and worked for an insurance agency in Wimberley before moving to Llano last year. He and Alica Morrison (also of Llano) plan to be married July 5, and both will be working in Kingsland by this fall (she as a teacher at Packsaddle Elementary; he as an agent for Lentz-Gann Insurance). If you’d like to hear Sam’s music, he’ll be performing at Torr Na Lochs Winery (off Hwy 29 in western Burnet County) from 2 - 5 on Saturday, July 15.

A capacity crowd attended Tuesday evening’s meeting with county and TxDOT officials to discuss transportation priorities—specifically, a plan to convert much of RR 1431 from a 4-lane highway to a “Super 2” with passing lanes and a turn lane, but only two continuous lanes for traffic. That plan seems to have been at least put on hold.

Businesses around Kingsland are decorated with lots of red, white and blue, in preparation for the July 4th festivities. The lakeside community will be filled with activity for four days this year, beginning on Friday evening and continuing until late into the night on Tuesday, July 4.

One hundred years ago in Llano

BY JOHN HALLOWELL

The big news in Llano on January 1, 1917, was some New Year’s Eve vandalism, the Llano News announced in its January 4 issue that 11 local boys had been arrested for vandalism. The damage was extensive, and several more were to be charged after the town awoke to find an overturned garbage can covering the head of the Confederate statue (which had been dedicated with great fanfare the previous year) and broken “window lights, deals and laboratory equipment” at the school building. According to the report, “considerable other mischief of less violence was the result of the night’s rowdiness.”

The Watkins Auto Sales Company announced the delivery of thirteen new Ford (a hot commodity in 1917; all of them were already spoken for, and there was still a waiting list of prospective buyers). Several more buyers boarded a familiar names, including Roy B. Inks of Llano, O.K. McDonald of W.O. Hill of Kingsland, Mr. Watkins expected more Fords to arrive “any day.”

Traveling by car was an interesting experience back then. Another front-page story told how Professor B.F. McCullough and his wife had planned to travel with three young school teachers to Dublin for Christmas. They had almost made it as far as Cherokee when the car broke down. It became evident that the car needed a part which was not available anywhere nearby, so when a Good Samaritan stopped to help, the four hitched the car out into town. They found a man called a “jockey” to take them to Lometa, where they could catch a train. The jitney broke down, too, and they had to spend the night in a hospitable family in Cherokee while they waited for another jitney from to come and get them. In the meantime, the professor found a telephone and called for help. They arrived at a nearby ranch, and called a supplier in Mason to bring the necessary part for the car the next day. The “chauffeur” of the second jitney “never dropped himself” and the ladies missed their train by 15 minutes, but they were able to catch up to it and board the train at its next stop.

The professor installed the new part, and arrived in Dublin shortly after his wife and their friends.

Of course, trains were still the primary mode of transportation, and the paper listed shipments from Llano by several area ranchers. J.C. Stibling sent two carloads of hogs to Fort Worth. D.P. House and J.W. Hause each sent four carloads of hogs, also to Fort Worth. H.R. Smith sent two carloads of cattle to San Marcos, but most of the shipments went to Fort Worth.

Thomas G. Cowley, who had enlisted with the Marine Corps the previous August, completed his basic training and became “a full-fledged Marine.” He was waiting in Norfolk, Virginia, for an overseas assignment.

Miss Bessie Chism was hired as the new manager of the Southern Hotel after the resignation of the previous manager, Mrs. Emma West. Miss Chism announced plans to “considerable remodeling,” including repapering all the walls of the old hotel.

Llano’s Baptists welcomed Rev. J.M. Reynolds, formerly of Brady, as their new pastor. The Methodists installed a complete new connection of the entire front of the lot, and walls leading to the entrance of the Sunday School room and the church. All around the courthouse square, workers were installing curbs, gutters and walls.

Julian Lauterstein, Abe Wernberg and Lewis Lauterstein announced plans to move their general merchandising company from Field Creek to Kingsland, where they would operate as “Lauterstein Mercantile” in the old store house of J.T. Hallowell.

Mrs. Mollie Thornton closed her board house, even though it had been very successful and she “always had even more boarders than she could consistently care for.”

The headline on the front page on January 11 said: “Every Day Some New Building Is Begun and Improvements Are Noticed Everywhere in Llano. A story described a new 56’ x 70’ one-story building ‘just to the north” of Frank Kelley’s store. The building had started by putting on an addition to that building. The article also noted that the building just behind Mr. Kothmann’s had been leased to Nelson Davis of Austin, to be used as a wholesale grocery store (Editor’s note: Mr. Kothmann’s business was on Bessemer Avenue in North Llano; Roy Inks was an employee of Nelson Davis, and was apparently in charge of the new Llano warehouse).

The Llano post office reported steady increases in revenue from $5,792.42 in 1913 to 7,144.74 in 1916. Bond sales totaling $20,000 for street improvement were approved, and a Chicago company was expected to begin work in the near future. The commissioners court “received” the new bridge in Tow, and asked for bids to paint the Bluffton bridge. They also “reconsidered” the possibility of “fixing and painting the ceiling in the upper story of the courthouse.”

J.B. Busch bought Frank Mosely’s garage and opened the Buie Auto Company. Obe McClary took over the tailor shop in the Johnson & Byfield store, and tailor George Johnson moved into the barber shop of Rufus Deats, where he was setting up an independent business. Mrs. T.O. Riley bought back her “millinery establishment” expected to be owned by Mrs. Grady Faubion for “some months” in the recent past. Bookkeeper Pius L. Burke left Rockwell Lumber Company to join the Llano Milling Company.

Mr. George M. Willis, a Pontotoc rancher who had just been elected sheriff of Mason County, was married to Miss Ellen Wyckoff, of Cool Creek (Llano County), in a ceremony conducted by Rev. J.M. Streeter at the Southern Hotel in Llano.

That was the beginning of 1917.
The “caterpillar” leads the cast of Alice in Wonderland Jr. in a rousing rendition of “Zip-a-Dee-Doo-Dah” at the Hill Country Community Theatre’s production of the Disney classic last weekend. The actors were from HCCT’s Youth Summer Theatre Program.

“Small Alice” endures some tough questioning by three of the flowers from the Wonderland garden.

Three Cheshire cats commiserate with Alice’s confusion during another scene from Alice in Wonderland Jr., at the Hill Country Community Theatre last weekend. The theatre opens its new season with “9 to 5,” beginning July 20.
A little rain was not enough to keep a crowd of enthusiastic cookers away from the Burnet County Fairgrounds, and the Burnet BBQ Cook-Off was a big success last weekend.

Artist and teacher Jeremy Serna, from Brownwood, conducted another of his popular “Painting with Friends” classes at the JJK Event Center in Llano on Monday night. Aspiring artists followed his lead to create a unique painting of a Llano County railroad bridge.

Bryan May and Sam Newton are about halfway through with their amazing cross-country road trip on a tandem bicycle. They stopped in Llano last Friday, and enjoyed visiting with native “Llanites” at the Fourth Friday Art Walk. They are averaging about 50 miles per day, and hope to reach San Diego in another month!

A near-capacity crowd enjoyed the musical, “That’s so Daniel,” at Chapel of the Hills in Buchanan Dam last Friday evening. Performers were the students from the church’s music camp earlier in the week.

Above: Daniel and his three friends lead the choir in song after the three friends survived King Nebuchadnezzar’s fiery furnace. Below: Music minister Dennis Hoover played a grandfather telling the story to his grandson, Daniel, while cast members interspersed the tale with very well performed skits and songs.

In this scene, the wicked “presidents and princes” trick King Darius into signing a law that will force him to throw Daniel into the lions’ den for praying.
