Soapbox Classic!

The Soapbox Classic kept downtown Marble Falls full last weekend, as an imaginative group of “young-at-heart” car owners put on a great show (with a little help from some who were actually young). In the photo above, the Harry Potter team edges out the La-Ti-Da team in the “Jamaican” race (where a younger team member pushed at the beginning of the race to get the car off to a faster start). For more Soapbox photos, see pages 8 and 9 or check out the Highland Lakes Weekly page on Facebook.

Scatterthought

Once again, the Soapbox Classic was an amazing event: good humor and imagination mixed with engineering skill and recklessness (not reckless, just recklessly) abandon. I'm sure that my interest in cars has something to do with my appreciation for the derby, and I'm in the same demographic as many of the participants (older than dirt, but there were men, women, boys and girls of all ages in downtown Marble Falls last weekend, and almost all of them seemed to really enjoy it. It didn't seem quite as hot as other years; a rainstorm on Saturday afternoon cooled things down for a while, but I was still very happy to hear that next year's derby is scheduled for the fourth weekend of April. Not that April really needed another festival, but the Bluebonnet Festival and the Crawfish Open will be over by then, but it should still be cooler than June. I'm optimistic that the 10th annual (2019) Soapbox Classic will be the best yet.

As is often the case, I got mixed up on my schedule and arrived in Bertram an hour early for the Oatmeal Festival fundraiser dance. I took the opportunity to chat on my diet, and went to the Mambo Italiano Ristorante, where I ordered "Zuppa di Pesce" (shrimp, clams, mussels and fish "over linguine pasta in a white wine lite marinara sauce") and listened to Michelle Montague singing. It was a luxury that I couldn't afford every day (I gained two pounds, got home quite late and had to take extra blood-sugar pills), but I heartily recommend it.

This week is the beginning of the 2018 Aqua Boom Festival, so I've got two or three really busy weeks before I can really start planning my vacation. Apart from the week I took off at Christmas last year to finish my book, I've had four one-week vacations in my seven years at the Highland Lakes Weekly. That doesn't sound like much, but each has been a huge adventure: a road trip with one of my four kids to see my parents (and all the extended family) in Walla Walla, WA. I took a different route each time, and was able to have some quality time with each of the four while exploring every state in the western U.S. That era seems to be over. The kids all have lives of their own (though both the two who are still single have expressed an interest in another road trip), and my mother passed away last August. I only have two states left unvisited in the lower 48, but I'd like to see more of the Midwest (I'm saving Alaska for my retirement). I may make another road trip at the end of July.

In the meantime, there are a couple of "new" wrinkles to this year's Aqua Boom. A Patriotic Costume Contest will be held at the Arts & Crafts Show (behind M&M Donuts, just off Hwy 1431) from 10 to noon on Sunday, June 30. I think it's for kids and under; for more details, call Jeradyn Risley at 903-951-0283. Then, from 4 to 8 p.m. on Monday, July 2, there will be a Wild Game Dinner and Auction at the Kingsland Community Center to benefit His Joshua House, a "Faith-Based Drug & Alcohol Recovery House for Men" in Kingsland. The reason that event is new is simply because the Joshua House is new; it just opened last May. It seems like a much-needed and worthwhile cause; I hope there will be a lot of community support.

It's still three weeks away, but Buchanan Arts & Crafts Guild (17554 E. SH 29 in Buchanan Dam) is offering a free Children's Art Camp to all interested children, ages 8-15, from 9 a.m. to noon, July 16-20. Supplies and snacks are provided. The class is limited to 18; first come, first served. Call 512-793-2858 between 10 and 4, Wednesday through Saturday.

The Burnet County Historical Commission will hold Texas Ranger Memorial Cross Dedication at the grave of John Israel Altman, at 11 a.m. on Saturday, June 30 in Burnet's Old Fellows Cemetery in Burnet. A lunch reception will follow at the library.

The camera did not do justice to the brilliant rainbow that appeared over Marble Falls at the end of a brief rain storm early Saturday evening (but this is probably the best rainbow picture I've ever got).
Volunteers from Lambda Nu sorority have been busy selling Aqua Boom T-Shirts and Sea Doo raffle tickets in their colorful booth on the Prosperity Bank parking lot in Kingsland.

These new signs mark the recent name-change at the former First State Bank of Central Texas, at Hwys 1431 and 2342 in the Burnet County side of Kingsland.

Pot owners lined up in the H.E.B. parking lot last Saturday to take advantage of low-cost vaccinations by Vanguard Veterinary Associates.

Renovations are nearly finished at the new home for Deb’s Doggy Bath House, in the former auto parts store at 2402 RR 1431 in Kingsland.
The bar is stocked and the furniture has arrived at the new Boat Town Burger Bar, nearly completed at the site of the former Longhorn Resort, near the north end of the 2900 bridge in Kingsland. The Burger Bar may be open as early as this weekend.

Kingsland/Lake LBJ Chamber of Commerce members gathered for a mixer on the grounds of the Chamber office last Thursday afternoon.

President Louann Raley, of the Kingsland/Lake LBJ Chamber of Commerce, called the Chamber’s monthly Breakfast Club meeting to order on Wednesday morning. The June networking meeting, held at Signs Across Texas (2231 RR 1431) in Kingsland, was sponsored by Candlelight Ranch (on the north bank of Lake Travis, east of Marble Falls).

Above: a capacity crowd turned out for Commissioner Mike Sandoval’s Precinct 3 Town Hall meeting on Tuesday evening at the Kingsland Library to hear about several issues of local interest.

At left: Hill Country Crimestoppers mascot, “Sheriff” Texas Jack (T.J.) Rabbit, posed with fans in the Kingsland Library just before the Hometown Heroes event last Friday morning.

First Responders and community volunteers brought vehicles and equipment to the library to explain their jobs to children in the library’s Summer Reading Club.

A group of Llano County Young Life volunteers held a fundraising car wash last Saturday at Packsaddle Fellowship in Kingsland to help pay for summer camp. The church, located on the Aqua Boom parade route on Hwy 2900, is already advertising its free carnival (plus free bottled water for parade spectators) on the Fourth of July.
A good crowd attended the YMCA’s Casino Night last Saturday in Burnet, where good-natured gamblers bet on horse races and table games after a delicious BBQ meal.

Director Melissa Macdougall, of Lakeshore Library in Buchanan Dam, introduces the documentary film, Josiah, before Tuesday’s Juneteenth screening. The film tells the tragic but triumphant story of Underground Railway hero Josiah Henson, whose life inspired Harriet Beecher Stowe’s best-selling novel, Uncle Tom’s Cabin. The image on the screen in this picture is that of Mrs. Stowe.

Artist Pamela Huston gives advice to participants at Tuesday night’s Art Party in Llano. Each participant completed a “Rainbow Willow Tree” in acrylics during the relaxed evening session at the Llano Fine Arts Gallery. LFAG will host a digital photography program on July 2, and a “Kids Camp” on July 10, 17, and 24.
Members of the Merkel family, whose enthusiasm and imagination adds greatly to the Soapbox Classic each year, gathered for a group photo at their Main Street booth before the races began last Friday evening.

Derby board members Larry Merkel (left) and Taylor Smith (right) presented the “Best in Show” trophy to Andrea Davis, Hailey Clare and Mary Kay Ragan (car-builder and owner), of the Harry Potter team at Sunday’s Awards Presentation. The young impostor on the “all girl” team (who seemed intent on claiming the trophy for herself) is actually Taylor Smith’s son.

The fastest two cars at last weekend’s Soapbox Classic were Paul Wells’ “Holy Roller” (above), and Mark Keller’s “La Bomba” (right), made from a jet fighter plane’s fuel tank. The “Holy Roller” won the final race between the two.
After a parade of Soapbox vehicles on Main Street (at right) got the festivities officially underway on Friday evening, the races began on the Third Street “racetrack.” The first race pitted the Merkel families “Banana Hammock” car against the Harrails “Cattle Drive” (above). It was the beginning of a weekend of racing fun in Marble Falls.

Eventual winner “Holy Roller,” entered by Paul Wells, eliminated one racer after another, finally beating Mark Keller’s “La Bomba” in the final race.

At Rock’N Riverfest for some FUN on the Llano River in Badu Park. Entertainment this year will consist of professional and amateur classes of Outlaw Jet Ski Obstacle Course Racing on July 7th! Sign up 9-11 am in Badu Park, Racing begins at noon!

Austin magician “Black Bert” held a crowd of young library patrons spellbound during his show at the Marble Falls Library last Thursday afternoon (part of the library’s Summer Reading program).

Elevate Church held a “Dad Fest” Fathers Day celebration at the Lakeside Pavilion in Marble Falls last Sunday. The upbeat event included a car/motorcycle show, BBQ lunch, door prizes and activities for the kids.

Well-wishers joined library staff last Friday as Brittany Cavness cut a ceremonial ribbon to celebrate the new skateboard docking station at the Marble Falls Library.

Nationally-known country and rock music star Cody Canada (formerly lead singer for Cross Canadian Ragweed) and “The Departed” attracted a good crowd to the Globe Theatre in Bertram last Friday night.

When Harry Mueller “retired” to the Highland Lakes area after a successful career as a chef in Houston, he wasn’t quite ready to stop working. Now 83 years old, he has a cattle ranch, an RV Park (Hofbrau RV, on Hwy 281 in Round Mountain) and a peach orchard.

When the peach crop was all sold at Peach Valley Farm (across Hwy 281 from Hofbrau RV Park), owner Harry Mueller brought in a truckload of watermelons from East Texas (see ad on page 11).
