The Independence Day celebrations continued through last weekend, as Llano’s Rock’n Riverfest (see more photos on pages 8 & 9) and Kingsland’s Aqua Boom Cook-Offs (see page 15) were held on Saturday, July 7. In the photo above, pets and owners prepare for the Pet Parade at Llano’s Badu Park on Saturday morning. Hundreds of photos from Rock’n Riverfest and Aqua Boom can be seen on the “Highland Lakes Weekly” Facebook page, along with dozens of pictures from other area events.

Sam McCormick, from Victoria, brought his red 1960 Thunderbird to the “Oldies but Goodies” car show at Llano’s Rock’n Riverfest. He believes that he had taken pictures of him once before, possibly at a car show in San Antonio or Boerne about ten years ago. He hasn’t had a chance yet to go through my old “Texas Hill Country” magazines to see, but it sounds very plausible. I’ve always enjoyed taking pictures at car shows, and last Saturday’s was no exception!

The Week

John Hallowell

I think the rush is over. For the past three weeks, I’ve had a little more than I could handle (a LOT more than I could handle over the Fourth of July), but I managed to survive (with help from a couple of strategically-timed thunderstorms). I guess the event was delivering the papers last Thursday and Friday after working all night Wednesday, putting the paper together. I apologize to everyone who tried to carry on an intelligent conversation with me those days!

You’ll notice that I’m using a new mug shot of myself this week; it’s cropped from a picture that Toye Coponents took right after the Aqua Bueno parade, and I think I’ll use it for a while.

There are still some good things happening in the Highland Lakes area; Marble Falls will host a Triathlon this weekend and have a big rodeo week. July 18-21, but most of the other remaining July events will fit comfortably into my schedule; if the heat doesn’t get too terribly bad, I ought to make it to my vacation week. Either way, there won’t be a paper on August 3.

In my younger days, I traveled quite a bit. By the time I moved to Texas, I had been to 30 of the 50 U.S. states, plus four foreign countries. During my first 20 years here I added only six more states to my list (and Mexico), but since I started taking road trips with my kids in 2012, I’ve added ten more states. That’s 46 all together, leaving only Wisconsin and North Dakota unvisited in the “lower 48.” My daughter and I are planning to zig-zag north, stopping at several interesting places on the way, and visit those two states before we hurry back home. I hope to be back in time to publish an August 10 edition, and I’ll save Alaska for when I retire (I’ve pretty much given up on ever visiting Hawaii).

One of next week’s events will be the Kingsland Chamber’s monthly Breakfast Club meeting. It’s not really the kind of event that I usually put on the front page, but for business owners it’s a great networking opportunity, and I’m glad to see it going so well. Guests get free breakfast tacos and coffee, plus the chance to “Speak a Tweet” to introduce themselves and get acquainted with other local business owners. Next week’s meeting will be held at Splash Boat Rentals (1924 FM 1431 in Kingsland), beginning at 7:45 a.m. on Wednesday, July 18.

Another event that sounds good to me is the “Weekly Meal and Fellowship” at 6 p.m. every Friday at the Burnet VFW (Post 6974, on Hwy 29 West. All local Veterans and their families are welcome; there is no charge, but guests are encouraged to bring a side dish or dessert to share. Call Reece Carter at 317-417-8794 for more details.

An event that I’m not really sure about is the Tattoo Party from 5 to 8 p.m. this Saturday at Calamity and Grace, on the west side of the Llano square. I promise you that I won’t be participating, but I know owner Valerie Smusko, and have been impressed with many events there, so I’ll probably go and take a picture or two. The buzz on Facebook says “Not just tattoos! You will be receiving tips and instructions from Lisa Miller on how to make your very own henna painting, and viewing examples of vintage tattoos. Then you will be given a canvas and will create your own ‘tattoo canvas’ for your home. Check out Lisa Miller’s artwork for examples. This is going to be a fun night of creating on canvas AND on your body.” You can make up your own minds.

Those who are interested in classic cars have probably noticed a classified ad offering a 1931 Chevy for sale (see page 14). You might be interested to know that it won a trophy for “Best Original” at the Oldies but Goodies Car Show in Llano last week. You can see a photo on page 8.

Owners Mike Leamon and Lisa Morgan held a community party at their Twin Rivers mobile home park in Kingsland on June 29. The attractions included the O2 Kool Kreamery bus, with Blue Bell Ice Cream, and a petting zoo with assorted farm animals presented by Frye's Fun Farm, of Lockhart.

Volunteers from the Kingsland Boys & Girls Club held a car wash fundraiser in the Kingsland First Baptist parking lot last Saturday.

Progress continues at the WekePoint complex in Kingsland, located on the Burnet County side of the Hwy 1431 bridge. Builders hope to have the convenience store/office building/lakefront bar completed some time this summer.
Mary Mayville was the lucky winner of Kingsland’s Aqua Boom Sea Doe Raffle on July 4. She and her husband, Randy (of Holy Smokes BBQ in Marble Falls), posed with Eric Caroppe (of Highland Lakes Watercraft), Chamber representatives Hafdis Gentry and Louann Raley and Aqua Boom president Wendy Taylor when they came to pick up their new toy on Tuesday.

Patriotic displays filled Kingsland during the annual Aqua Boom festival, from flags and buntings at Kingsland’s newly-opened Boat Town complex (above; pictured from across the lake at the south end of the 2900 bridge), to the floral and balloon display at the front door of Signs Across Texas (2251 W RR 1431). Prizes in the “Kingsland Spirit” contest went to Windchime Assisted Living, Healthmart Pharmacy, Central Texas Dental and Lake Fun Designs, but there was red, white and blue all over town!
October 1954 in Llano

By JOHN HALLLOWELL

Good news got top billing in the October 7, 1954, issue of The Llano News. The biggest headline read “Rainfall in Central County,” and the story began: “A community-wide precipitation of up to four inches, with an inch and a half the least anyone reported, caused some of the drought conditions from Llano County to ease. The rain was a welcome relief after several months of dry weather and other sources of surface water, and with a late frost — could put a good stand of winter grass on the ground.”

Funding for the county’s road programs was announced by District Engineer Ed Bluestein, of the Texas Highway Department. One 12.5-mile section would connect Hwy 29 with Hwy 261; another 38-mile section would extend CR 152 from Castell to the Mason County line.

President Chas. A. Sagedahl, of the Llano Lions Club, announced that the National Orchestra Service, of Omaha, Nebraska, would be presenting their National Stage Show at the Llano County annual program. The high school auditorium. The program would raise funds for crippled children in Texas, needy children in Llano County, and a number of other programs for Llano County children.

The Llano Yellowjackets football team defeated the Granjor Lions 22-7. Llano’s team was defeated by Cherokee, 14-6.

The county tax roll of $7,278,402 was completed and approved by the county commissioners.

The next week’s paper was not so upbeat. The lead story told of the death of J.C. Sterlign, Sr., a Llano County pioneer who had owned the ranch known in 1954 as the Fitzsimmons Ranch (on Hwy 29 in eastern Llano County) from 1905 until 1932, when he moved to Roan. He was one of the first graduates from Baylor University, while it was still located at Independence, and came to Llano County in the 1870s with the area’s first Herford cattle.

The biggest headline on the front page of the October 28 paper reported that “Llano County Peanut Crop is Almost Total Loss.” The story pointed out that “a roughly estimated 90,000 acres of peanut land were damaged by disease and destroyed by drought.” A smaller article announced that parts of Llano County had received up to 62” of rain during the previous week.

A accused murderer was found drowned in Lake Buchanan. Deputy Sheriff Overstreet and Buchanan Dam resident Harold Murchison recovered the body of an Amnon man, who had been savagely murdered before shooting his wife, after a fisherman spotted his rented boat floating on the lake.

W.G. and Gale Kolos, formerly of San Saba, opened a new Texo Feed and Ranch Supply business “in the building right next to Ben Donop’s warehouse.” Mrs. G.K. Beach was reportedly recovering from polio after suffering from a bad back while working in a hospital in San Antonio. Sam Rabb was elected president at the Llano County Farm Bureau’s annual meeting. And the Yellowjackets’ “surprised many fans” by defeating the Goldthwaite Eagles 19-6.

Participants in the Family Paint Night, hosted last Friday evening by the Galleries at Pecan Creek shop in Marble Falls, created their own unique masterpieces (under expert supervision) in two hour-long sittings. The art gallery and shop is located in Old Oak Square, off Main Street between 3rd and 4th.

Granite Shoals Police officers Christie Carter, Marcus Sosa and Chris Decker posed for this photo with employees Mercedes Vasquez, Julie Taylor and Kathy Phillips, and customer James Enzbichar (of Iron Star Plumbing in Bertram) at Anthem Bank & Trust's come-and-go First Responder Appreciation Lunch last Friday.

This new Taco Bell, on Hwy 281 South in Burnet, opened for business last week. After years of hoping and waiting, the actual construction was completed just about ten weeks after ground was broken.

Family members gathered around centenarian Dorothy Myrick Owen at the Highland Lakes United Methodist Church, where she celebrated her 100th birthday last Sunday. Mrs. Owen (a Brady High School graduate) came to Kingsland with her husband, Herbert, after he retired from Mosher Steel Company of Houston in 1977. She served as librarian here from 1977 to 1981.

Apparently this building (now the back meeting room since the addition in 1999) was the “new” library in 1978, when Dorothy Owen presided over the move to the Kingsland Library’s first “permanent” location. The drawing pictured here hangs on the wall in the current library.

St. Paul the Apostle Catholic Church, which overlooks Horseshoe Bay from Thanksgiving Mountain, held a dedication for its beautiful new Armed Forces Honor Garden on July 4. The public is invited to visit the garden, which is located in front of the church.

The centerpiece of the garden is this statue of Jesus embracing an American soldier, created by Canadian sculptor Timothy P. Schmalz and presented as a gift to the church by Patty and Gary Broad. The wall behind the statue honors deceased veterans from the Horseshoe Bay area. Commemorative paving stones are still available for those who would like to have a part in this impressive memorial.

An afternoon thunderstorm on July 4 persuaded most would-be participants in Kingsland’s annual Aqua Boom Boat Parade to batten down the hatches and stay at home. When the unimpatient Bourgeois family showed up in their “Lady Liberty” entry (above), surprised parade organizers awarded them 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Prizes. We appreciate their dedication and community spirit!

Above, right: Pastor Doug Lindley and a group of members from Burnet’s First Baptist Church held a ground-breaking for a new church office building. It will be located across the street from their current building, at the corner of Jackson and Vandeveer.

At right: Attorney Robert Klaeger recently presented a check to Kathy Fletcher, of the Highland Lakes Legacy Fund, which will establish the Rose Lew-Dix Endowed Scholarship Fund from the estate of Peggy Rose Washington and her husband, Richard Dix Washington. The fund will provide scholarships for students from Marble Falls High School.
