The 62nd Annual Marble Falls Open/Pro Rodeo was the big event last weekend, and crowds filled the Charley Taylor Arena last Friday and Saturday nights (see more rodeo photos on pages 8 & 9).
Upcoming Events

The Strake family reacts as wife and mother Melissa (played by Christine Ashbaugh) wins an achievement award at the State Fair in the Hill Country Community Theatre’s production of the famous play by Rogers and Hammerstein. The show will continue this weekend and next.

By JOHN HALLOWELL

The Hill Country Community Theatre will present four performances of the musical “State Fair” again this weekend and next, July 26 to August 5. Thursday, Friday and Saturday shows will be at 7:30 p.m., with Sunday matinees at 2:15.

Wade Hibler will give a free Green Thumb presentation on “Water Conservation and Home Landscaping,” beginning at noon on Friday, July 27, at the Lakeshore Library in Buchanan Dam. Call 325-759-1174 to reserve a seat.

Painting With Friends will be at the Place Downtown in Kingsland for a group art party from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday, July 27 (to benefit Operation Exit). The Kingsland Chamber will host a “Back to School Blast” at the Pickassodale Elementary School from 9 to noon on Saturday, July 28. The first 300 students (K-12) will receive free backpacks filled with school supplies; there will also be free health screenings, Care-A-Van appointments, shoes, food and more.

There will be a National Dance Day celebration at Llano’s Bud Park, beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday, July 28. See dizzyfeetfoundation.org for details.

The Wild Weasel Gun Show will be at the King Country Community Center this Saturday (9-5) and Sunday (9-4), July 28 & 29.

The Castell VFD’s annual BBQ Fundraiser will be held at the fire hall, beginning at 6 p.m. on Saturday, July 28. The Llano Library will hold a LEGO Camp for children aged five years and up from 2 to 3:30 p.m. again next Tuesday (July 31).

An evening of great food and music (Italian love songs, opera and even a few golden oldies, presented by singers from the Hill Country Community Theatre) will be held at the Mambo Italiano Ristorante in Bertram from 6 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, July 31. Call (512) 355-8169 for details.

The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service will hold its annual banquet at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, August 2, at the St. James Lutheran Church in Llano.

Marble Falls Middle School will host its huge Back to School Blast from 9 to noon on Saturday, August 4. Marsha Lovelady will demonstrate the art of paper mache in a “Wine bottle topper demo” at the Llano Fine Art Guild from 10 a.m. to noon on Monday, August 6. The $5 fee covers all materials and a pot luck lunch at noon. The regular monthly meeting of the Llano Fine Art Guild will be held at 1 p.m.

Elevate Church will host a “Sk8 Comp” family skate party at the Marble Falls Skate Park (Main and Yett Streets) from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, August 7.

Scatterthought

It was another amazing week in my Highland Lakes neighborhood. I could probably just copy and paste that for the default opening of all my “Scatterthought” columns (at least 80 percent of them), but some weeks it’s even more fitting than usual (and I like variety anyway).

I’m not saying that it started out well. As if the heat wasn’t bad enough already, there were fires all over. Then the Bluebonnet Belle crashed and burned in Burnet. Than my rodeo pic-tures didn’t turn out well. Then the Red-Deo Parade got canceled in Marble Falls or maybe it had been canceled earlier and nobody told me. Those major calamities were interspersed with smaller ones, and I wasn’t really feeling very upbeat at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday.

That was probably my low point; I had another appointment, so I hurried to Lano. It was a 75th birthday party for my longtime friend, Art Dulgach, and there just happened to be a bunch of friends there who I hadn’t seen in quite a while. Seeing them, and reminiscing with a few, reminded me of how much I have been blessed over these past 20 years.

Art is quite well-known in these parts, but in case some of my readers don’t know him, I’ll mention a couple of things that you should know. Art is a Baylor grad who worked in television news and sports for more than 30 years before he came to Marble Falls. His last TV job was in San Francisco, where he worked with former San Diego Chargers quarterback Dan Fouts. In the meantime, he had visited the Highland Lakes area, and when he saw a job posting for a news reporter and play-by-play announcer at KBEY Radio, he decided to move here. That was in the late 90s.

As editor of the Burnet Bulletin from 2000 to 2004, I got to know Art quite well.

As far as I could tell, he was the ultimate professional (he even memorized the names and numbers of key players on opposing teams, so he could describe each play as if he knew everyone personally). I felt very honored when he asked to interview me in 2004, when I was just getting my Texas Hill Country magazine started; I was even more grateful by the way he guided me through that interview and actually made me sound pretty good (I’ve mixed results with live interviews since then).

I covered a few music events after that, but most of the weekend I tried to stay in the air conditioning while I planned this week’s paper AND my upcoming vacations. On Monday I got a call from another old KBEY friend, Kay Baker. She had heard that I was going to give a talk at Lakeshore Library on Tuesday evening, and wondered if I’d like to come over and tell KBEY listeners about it on “The Wake Up Show” with Ed and Kay. Well, to quote the famous Toby Keith song, “Occasionally, I like to talk about me.” Of course I said yes.

The day was surreal. I got up early, early enough to take some sunrise pictures and still arrive at the studio a few minutes ahead of schedule. Then I talked on the radio. Then I built some ads for the paper (completely forgetting the LEGO Camp that I had been meaning to go to at the Llano Library) and got ready for the program at Lakeshore Library. Both the radio show and the library program went better than I had dared to expect. Ed and Kay are good at their jobs, too, and there was a good-sized and good-natured (very kind, actually) audience at the library. I even sold about a dozen books while I was there.

I was already feeling really good when my son called. I knew he had been training in Dallas for a new job, but he was pulling his belongings down I-35 to Austin when he called. He said he would be in Marble Falls the next day, and wanted to know if we could meet for coffee. Absolutely!

Demolition had obviously begun before this Saturday photo was taken, indicating the imminent demise of the old Prosperity Bank drive-through, behind the Kingsland post office.

Work was definitely underway on Monday morning, as the “wrecking machine” made short work of the small building.

The machine was still there on Wednesday morning, but just a small pile of rubble remained where the building had been.

A crowd gathered for a rally to begin last Wednesday’s “AMPED” Vacation Bible School before splitting into smaller groups for activities at Kingsland’s First Baptist Church.

The sign at Highland Lakes Baptist Church announced the arrival of a new pastor last week.

Continued construction at WakePoint, the convenience store, office complex and lakefront bar at the east end of Kingsland’s Hwy 1431 bridge, and at The Harbors, an upscale subdivision in the background of this photo, signals the total transformation of the Burnet County side of Lake LBJ where the Llano and Colorado rivers meet. For many years, this was the location of Kingsland Lodges and (more recently) the El Rio convenience store.

One of the front-page stories in The Llano News on December 2, 1954, announced that the First Baptist Church in Llano had broken ground for a “new Baptist two-story auditorium and educational building.” Pastor W.H. Uhlan reported that the building would cost around $54,000. The ground-breaking ceremony on November 28 was followed by the pastor’s “dinner on the grounds,” arranged by Mrs. H. H. Fowlers.

The planned large-scale military maneuvers made the news again, as Major General Thomas A. Harrod announced that an affixed letter to the second floor of the fire hall to handle any claims of property damage in the Llano county ranches which would be used. The huge operation would include parts of 11 counties, and each county would have its own claims office.

Newspaper A.P. Box urged that Christmas gift senders get their parcel post packages and cards in the mail early. Postcards cost only two cents to mail, but first-class postcards were three cents. Packages were limited to “100 inches combined length and girth, and seventy pounds in weight.”

Corporal Albert Banks Jr., who had been stationed in France for the previous year, was home on a 35-day leave. His duties would resume after the leave at Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls.

Allen Johnson was named head of the Centennial Committee to plan Llano County’s 100th Birthday celebration in 1956.

J.M. Dillinger of Corpus Christi was awarded a $167,000 contract to pave the final 15-mile stretch of FM 93 (now Highway 17) in Llano County. A front-page editorial editorialized that the highway department was planning to install a traffic signal at Ford and Main. The writer advocated for a four-way stop instead, arguing that drivers would not have to sacrifice the red light when there were no cars coming on the other street.

Game Warden J.C. Moore reported that only about 50 to 60 antlered deer had been killed on Opening Day of the new “deoseason.” Hunters picked up the deer on a little during the next week, and the number increased to 525 by the middle of the 15-day season.

Two highway repair projects were published in the Llano News. The first was the construction of Highway 455: an 8.2-mile stretch of Highway 29 west of Llano City limits to San Fernando Creek, and a 12-mile stretch of Highway 16 going north from Llano city limits to the San Saba County line.

Members of the Central Texas Electric Cooperative were scheduled to vote on the location of a new co-op office, planned for the near future in either Llano, Mason, or Fredericksburg. The co-op was currently paying $2,700 per year to lease office space in Fredericksburg.

A front-page photo (quite uncommon back in 1954) on December 16 showed a decorated jeep circling the Llano square to advertise the 7th Annual Jaycees Western Party, scheduled for the following evening.

The doe harvest fell few below expectations, with just 1,475 antlerless deer reported killed in Llano County during the first half of December. Bargers broke into the Llano Ice and Cold Storage plant through a window on the west side of the building on December 12, carrying away 116 36-inch, 300-pound steel safe. The owners weren’t too concerned; there was only between $10 and $20 in the safe. The safe was recovered on a railroad embankment north of Fort Worth a few days later; it had been ‘beaten open with a heavy hammer,’ Police reported that there were “two hot suspects,” but no arrests had been made.

Vice Admiral H.H. McLean returned to his hometown (Llano) after 37-and-a-half years of service in the United States Navy. His mother (Mrs. W. J. Ligon) were still living in Llano.

A Christmas concert was scheduled for Sunday evening, December 19, at the Little Watkins Memorial Methodist Church. Monroe Raeser would direct the singing and Mrs. Orville Butts would play the organ.

About 1,200 people attended the Jaycees Western Party at the Llano High School gymnasium on December 17, and the proceeds were “acclaimed a tremendous success.”

The Llano News borrowed a story from the “Brownwood Banner,” which reported that December 16 that a bridge that started on the Colorado River at Farm Road 45 was open to traffic, permitting “a direct, all-paved route from Brownwood to Richland Springs.”

Bernard L.G. Hanneken resigned as the Bishop of the Llano church, and Reverend Robert A. Jackson came from Mathis to fill a vacancy at the First Church in Llano. The church and the Community Church held a Gift Exchange on December 22; Mrs. C.D. McDonald was in charge of arrangements.

The post office reported a total of 110,000 pieces of first-class mail sent from Llano, plus thousands of pieces of second-class mail and packages.

Major advertisers in the December 30 issue of the Llano News were Ingle’s Jewelry, Stolz Hardware, System Grocery & Market, Rodgers Motors (Buick), Bill Walker Cleaners, Miles Battery (Federal Director), Dr. H.J. Hoff (Orthodontist), Deke’s Butcher, Maddox Service Station (formerly John C. Batter Magnolia), Texo Feed, Jungkind Electric, Winkel’s Feed, Quality Containers, Llano County Farm Bureau, Dale’s Handy Service Station, Moore State Bank, and Lee Smith Signs.
One of the most popular parks in Texas, Inks Lake State Park is also one of the best attractions in the Highland Lakes area (along with its neighbor a few miles down Park Road 4, the Longhorn Cavern State Park) during the hot summer months.

In addition to hiking, swimming, fishing and boating, Inks Lake State Park offers a variety of regularly scheduled group activities (especially on weekends) during the summer.

Reptile aficionado Carol Slape conducted a “Mythbusters” snake education program at the Inks Lake State Park amphitheatre last Saturday, one of many fun and educational park events.

SCATTERTHOUGHT:
I met Danny at Numinous Coffee Roasters and heard all about his new job. It sounds great; he is a regional “Account Manager.” That’s what his business cards say — but they call him DANIEL Hallowell for a big lumber distributor, and the Lowe’s store in Marble Falls is one of his accounts. He’ll be traveling all over Texas and New Mexico, but he is now based in Austin.

All this is just to say that I’m feeling great but I’m farther behind schedule than ever. If you’re reading this, then I must have got the paper finished, but I’ll be more sleep-deprived than ever on Thursday and Friday. Next week’s vacation is arriving just in time!

There are two items that I want to mention before I end this column. The Llano ISD will be holding its first annual Back to School Blast, from 9 a.m. to noon this Saturday. It will be modeled after the hugely successful event in Marble Falls, and FREE backpacks filled with school supplies will be given to the first 500 students (Pre-K – 12) at Paskoii Elementary School in Kingsland (students must be present; one backpack per student). There will also be free health screenings, Care-A-Van appointments, shoes, socks, food, and a whole lot more. The event is supported by health and community service agencies, local churches and businesses, as well as the Llano ISD.

The other item is an effort to preserve and promote the historic Fuchs House near Horse Creek Bay. Volunteers and ideas are needed to make the most of this historic treasure, and a meeting will be held on August 9 to discuss the possibilities. You can contact the organizers on Facebook at “Fox House Advisory Council” or by calling 380-220-2474.

There won’t be a paper next week, but I should be back on the job by August 6. Thanks for your understanding!
Unintimidated by predictions of triple-digit temperatures, a good crowd of good-hearted golfers turned out at Delaware Springs Golf Course in Burnet last Saturday morning for the CASA golf tournament.

City councilman Craig Bauman reminisced briefly before reading a proclamation designating “Art Dlugach Day” in Llano last Saturday. The well-known (and much-appreciated) sports reporter celebrated his 75th birthday with a crowd of family and friends at St. James Lutheran Church.

Harry Mueller’s Peach Valley Farm and RV Park in Round Mountain will soon be the site for “Cookin’ On Wood” BBQ, formerly located in Smythwick (see ad on page 9).

The Highland Lakes YMCA in Burnet hosted a very entertaining "adult dodgeball tournament" last Saturday night.

Announcer C.J. Weisinger gives some last-minute instructions before the dodgeball action begins.

Referees and teams prepare for the first game of last Saturday night’s YMCA dodgeball tournament.

Pet of the Week

Firefly is a cutie! She is a 2-pound bundle of fluffy cuteness. Firefly is a typical 6-week-old kitten who enjoys playing, exploring and being loved on. Can you help her find a new home? To meet Firefly, please call the Hill Country Humane Society at 512-793-6463 or visit our web site at www.HillCountryHumaneSociety.org. We are open Thursday through Monday, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.
