The Rotary Club of Marble Falls hosted a special 9/11 Day of Remembrance Ceremony at the Lakeside Pavilion on Tuesday evening; in the photo above, area First Responders stand ready to present the colors to open the ceremony, which included a bell-ringing for the victims, proclamations from the city and county, recognition of First Responders, a first-hand account of New York City on September 11, 2001 and a haunting rendition of “Amazing Grace” on the bagpipes. (Continued on page 10)
There was all kinds of good news at the Bluebonnet Air Show! I never like to complain about rain (and I was glad to see it coming down hard around noon on Saturday), but I was also glad to see the weather clear up in time for the show to go on. It was a great day!

Scatterthought

This just in: the Spicewood VFD-EMS Destruction Derby has been postponed—another week because of weather; it is now scheduled for 6 p.m. on Saturday, September 22, 2018. Please disregard the September 15 date listed in “Upcoming Events.”

That late-breaking news is one example of why I am happy to have Scatterthought for the “fourth quarter” of my deadline day. I gather notes all week for things I want to mention, but this column often is made up mostly of what’s on my mind in the middle of the night on Wednesday.

And this week, the horror of September 11, 2001, is very much on my mind. I am very thankful to the Marble Falls Rotary Club for their continued efforts to remember the victims and heroes of that day, and I was really glad to get a picture that seemed worthy of the front page while I was at their “Day of Remembrance” ceremony. As always, I had a bunch of pictures that I couldn’t fit into the paper; you can see them on the “Highland Lakes Weekly” Facebook page.

Perhaps I should mention here that I never charge for digital copies of my pictures. People often ask (quite hesitantly, sometimes) if they can use one or two of my pictures, and the answer is always “Yes! You can use any of the pictures I post on Facebook, in any positive way; you don’t have to ask my permission, and you don’t have to go out of your way to credit me. I would feel honored!”

Another postponement due to weather was the program with the ReMax hot-air balloon that was scheduled for Wednesday. It has been re-scheduled for October 27.

I hope the weather will be good this weekend, because there are a couple of great outdoor events on my schedule, and I’d like to see them go as well as possible. One is the Lake Buchanan Sailing Club’s 2018 Lake Buchanan Regatta, beginning at 10 a.m. this Saturday (September 15) at Llano County Park and Catamaran Beach.

Most people are probably familiar with Llano County Park, just past the LCR’s Black Rock Park on the west side of Lake Buchanan. Even though I’ve been to Catamaran Beach (on the north side of the road to Shaw Island – CR 225), I had never heard the name; probably others are in the same boat (figuratively, not literally). Call 512-663-6995 if you need directions or more details.

Other outdoor events this Saturday are the Hoover Valley VFD Golf Tournament, at The Legends, and the big Kids Day Out behind the YMCA in Burnet. Then there’s the Prayer Walk in Bertram on Sunday afternoon. There are plenty of outdoor activities if it does rain again, but I’d hate to see those events ruined.

I was really glad the Commemorative Air Force didn’t give up on its air show last Saturday. Even though a downpour came right around starting time, they hung in there and were able to put on a show on the whole show. It was a great show, and I was startled to realize, when I finally got home, that my face was quite sunburned.

I’ve got several other things I need to mention. There will be an Open House at the Llano County Annex in Buchanan Dam from 5 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, September 27, to discuss plans for widening SH 29 between Buchanan Dam and Llano. I hear that my friend Carl Ginsberg will also be honored at a meeting that same evening in Marble Falls (for service to BCESA and Burnet County VFDs over the past years). I hope to have more details by next week.

Weekday Ministries will be initiating its new “Weekday Cafe” next Tuesday (September 18). The “Hey Diddle Diddle” food truck will be at the courtyard behind the Weekday office (312 South Main, in Burnet) from noon to 1 p.m., and everyone is invited for a lunchtime of music, fellowship and ministry.

This year’s “Western Trappings on the Llano” will begin with a Meet the Artists Gala & Preview Sale at the Llano County Historical Museum on Friday, October 19 (beginning at 5:30 p.m.). Llano’s Weekend Weekend, including the always-popular Cowboy Chuck Wagon Cook Off, will follow.
Almost everyone in the Kingsland area has noticed this striking new building, across RR 2342 from the Baylor Scott & White clinic in Kingsland. It is the new home of Showcase Builders, LLC, and part of the building will soon serve as a state-of-the-art design center. Showcase generally focuses on upscale homes, and has been a regular participant in the Hill Country Builders Association’s Parade of Homes. The company also does some commercial projects, and is currently finishing a dramatic renovation of the old Johnson Ford building (behind the Blue Bonnet Café in Marble Falls) for Bear King Brewery.

Master Gardener Allison Bennet gave a program on “Art and Architecture Inspired by Plants” at the Kingsland Library on Wednesday.

The Kingsland Library also hosted an Ice Cream and Pie Social this past Tuesday.

Car club members were joined by staff and clients of the Kingsland Boys and Girls Club (located at Kingsland’s First Baptist Church) for this photo, as Lake Area Rods & Classics donated $500 to the club last Friday afternoon.

Repeated rains in September have restored the flow of the Llano River, but the Kingsland Slab had not yet flooded as of last Sunday. More thunderstorms are predicted in coming days.

Kingsland in Winter 1971-1972

By JOHN HALLOWELL

There were several Kingsland stories in the Marble Falls Highlander in December of 1971, some of them leading up to the historic opening of the Kingsland Water Supply Corporation on Jan. 4, 1972.

The first story, on December 2, was an account of a "brush with death" for truck driver Ed Smith, who was headed back to Llano in a Harro Brothers feed truck on Hwy 1431, when he approached the railroad tracks just east of the scenic overlook in Kingsland. Seeing a train approaching from the west, he tried to stop, his brakes failed, and the truck was struck and split in two by the diesel engine. The big feed bin on the back of the truck was carried about 50 yards down the track (and the rear wheels even further) but the cab escaped relatively unscathed. Mr. Smith was treated for minor cuts and bruises at Llano Hospital.

On December 16, the Highlander reported that more than 1,800 people had signed a petition circulated by the Kingsland National Bank in Kingsland to petition the state to place the town under the control of the Corps of Engineers. A huge crowd gathered at the Burnet County courthouse for a meeting to discuss the possibilities.

On January 6, a second Kingsland newspaper, The Llano County News, was founded.

The article noted that deposits at the Highfield Lake National Bank, already the largest bank in the four-county area (Burnet, Llano, Blanco and Lampasas) had increased by 56% in 1971, to $17,731,000. Sales tax revenues, building permits and post office receipts also rose dramatically around the Highfield Lake area.

Another front-page story on January 6 was headlined, "Highfield Lakes Growth Continues to Skyrocket." The biggest Kingsland news in the winter of 1971-72 was the long-awaited opening of the Kingsland Water Supply Corporation. The facility (pictured at left during a recent winter) was located off Euel Moore Drive, behind the telephone building and next to Ott’s Addition. More recent neighbors are the Puckett Elementary School and Windwood Apartments.

Nationally-known pilot Jane Doyle, who served as a WASP (Women Airforce Service Pilot) in World War II and was awarded a Congressional Gold Medal in 2010, was the guest of Honor at this year’s Air Show in Burnet. She celebrated her 90th birthday (about a month early) in the VIP tent at noon on Saturday.
Despite a half-hour downpour which delayed the beginning of Saturday's air show in Burnet, a good crowd witnessed a great show.

Pet of the Week

Gandalf is a silly, wonderful cat. He can’t help but to express himself, and really likes to “talk” to you. He is curious and playful, but is also very sweet and loving. He is a 2-year-old Domenic Shorthair with the most gorgeous eyes. Gandalf gets along well with other cats and with dogs. To meet Gandalf, please call the Hill Country Humane Society at 512-793-5463 or visit our web site at www.HillCountryHumaneSociety.org. We are open Thursday through Monday, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.
