In deference to the ominous weather forecasts, the annual Kids Day Out (usually held in the fields behind the YMCA in Burnet) was held indoors last Saturday, in the YMCA gym. Hundreds of kids (and parents) attended the educational and entertaining event, and hundreds of pounds of non-perishable food was collected for area food banks. More photos can be seen on the "Highland Lakes Weekly" Facebook page.

The “monsoon season” may be over (or may be not), but it was sunny and Wednesday was sunny days, so the forecast on my computer predicts some rain every day through next Wednesday. It was still cool and the clouds have moved over and the storms have been affected by the weather), but there was no shortage of good photo ops for this week’s paper.

One article which got postponed (again) was the Destruction Derby in Spicewood. For the sake of the organizers, I hope the weather will finally allow their event to go as planned (6 p.m. this Saturday).

The Hill Country Community Theatre is seeking three women and four men, aged 20-50, to play comic characters in the upcoming show, “Sons’ Wrong Chinney!” Auditions will be held next Monday and Tuesday, September 24 and 25 (7 p.m. both days) at the theater in Cottonwood Shores.

The new VFW Auxiliary is planning a Bunco night at Post 6974 on Hwy 29W in Burnet, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, September 25.

TxDOT will be holding a meeting at 5 to 7 p.m. next Thursday (September 27) at the East Llano County Annex in Buchanan Dam to discuss planned improvements on Hwy 29 (between RR 1431 and RR 2241).

Commissioner Mike Sandoval (Pct. #3, Llano County) has asked me to make a few announcements for him: I’ll list them here. As the county’s officer for Veteran Services, he would like all veterans to know that personalized engraved medical ID tags are available at no cost, and could be very helpful in emergencies. Call him at 325-248-1261 for details. Also, the public is invited to a workshop on “the 10 signs” of Alzheimer’s disease, to be held by the Alzheimer’s Association at the Kingsland Library, at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, October 16. In the meantime, there will be another Residential Bulk Collection Event at the East Llano County Annex from 8 to noon (or until full) on Saturday, October 6. That event is open to Llano County residents and KMC customers in Burnet County.

Our own Crisna Browne, of Burnet, will be holding her next “Breakfast with the Mayor” at 8 a.m. on Thursday, September 27, at the Unsalable Grounds coffee shop (just north of the square on Main Street). The public is invited to meet and discuss any issues they may have on their minds or to just chat about events going on in the city. The event is sponsored by the Burnet Chamber of Commerce, and there will be no charge.

At 7:30 on Tuesday, September 8, the Burnet County Emergency Services Association will honor Carl Ginsberg for his service to ECCSA and Burnet County VFDs over the past years, during a meeting at the Marble Falls VFD.

The “Heart of The Art In Song Dinner Show,” which will feature Singer-Songwriter Alex Harvey (Delta Down, Reuben James, etc.) singing 12 songs inspired by 12 pieces of art by Buchanan Dam artist Daniel Adams, will be held at 7 to 10 p.m. on Thursday, October 11, at the Badu 1891 restaurant in Llano. The art works will be on display as the songs are sung, and soon they will be combined in a new book; the art on one page, and the song on the facing page.

This year’s Octoberfest in Burnet (on Saturday, October 13) looks like it’s going to be a pretty big deal, especially since it’s combined with Fort Croghan Day and Burnet’s big three-day Art Festival. There will be a 5K Run, a car show, live music and much more. Kingsland will be holding its own Oktoberfest that day, and Marble Falls will have a Music Fest.

Also on October 13, the Lake Buchanan Conservation Corp. will be holding its annual golf tournament (12:30 shotgun start) at Delaware Springs in Burnet.

The Llano County Historical Museum will host an “Opening Night Meet the Artists Gala & Preview Sale” for Llano’s annual Western Trappings on the Llano exhibit, beginning at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, October 19.

A golf tournament will be held on Monday, October 22, at the Slick Rock Golf course in Horseshoe Bay to help preserve the historic Fuchs House.

The Llano Library has many activities for different ages and schedules: book clubs, game days, movie nights, etc. And the Friends of the Llano Library will be hosting the wonderful Historical Cemetery Tours to illustrate Llano’s past on Tuesday, October 23.

Marty’s Concrete donated labor for recent improvements at the Kingsland Community Park; the Kingsland/Lake LBJ Chamber of Commerce raised funds for materials at a golf tournament earlier this year. Concrete was poured at the boat ramp approach to repair potholes, improve traction and make a more gradual slope; repairs were also made to the steps leading up to the pavilion.

In this Monday morning photo, workers were preparing to pour a foundation for the new Gatti’s Pizza building, located on RR 1431 in Kingsland, just past the First Baptist Church and in front of the Kingsland Community Center.

In another very visible construction project, workers made significant progress on Kingsland's new coffee shop, coming soon to the former site of Carolyn Derington’s “May I Help You?” office, across RR 2900 from the H.E.B. grocery store.

WAKEPOINT to open in October

The nearly-completed WakePoint complex, at the east end of the bridge on RR 1431, may be open for business by October 1, and a Grand Opening is planned for October 20. In addition to standard convenience store amenities, the complex will include upstairs office space, freshly-prepared BBQ, pizza and sandwiches, a picnic area, music venue and a lakeside bar.

One of many custom touches at WakePoint will be this mural by Diane Doolittle, nearing completion when this photo was taken last Friday. Inspired by the famous mosaic map from the old Highland Lakes National Bank, this mural will greet customers as they come in the “back door” from the picnic area.

More than two weeks of near-daily rains have turned the Highland Lakes area green and filled up area creeks and rivers. The photos above and below were taken on a foggy Monday morning from the bridge in Llano; the water rushing over the dam looked almost like a mini Niagara Falls!

The Kingsland Slab was closed only briefly on Sunday, and traffic was able to cross on Monday despite shallow water flowing over the road. The river’s rise is a dramatic improvement over the hot, dry weeks of August.
Above: Some of the early arrivals at last Saturday’s Lake Buchanan Regatta were: Mike Butler, Sheryl Reagan, Ronnie Vinikoff and Nancy Clements-Gates. Below: Mike Butler and Ronnie Vinikoff were the first two out on the water on Saturday morning; many who had planned to attend were scared off by bad weather forecasts.

Above: Meanwhile, the Pigskin Pork Cook-Off was off to a good start at Fuzzy’s Corner in Buchanan Dam on Saturday morning, and a good crowd was there before the rain began. Below: A downpour early Saturday afternoon forced the crowd at the Pigskin Pork Cook-Off to take shelter in the back porch at Fuzzy’s Corner. The rain did not dampen spirits; live music and good company made for a cheerful crowd, and the event raised more than $6,000 for the Kingsland Boys & Girls Club.
After two days of hosting classes from area schools (more than 600 students in all), the Space Expo at the Boys & Girls Club in Marble Falls was opened to the general public on Saturday.

Below: Former astronaut Steve Smith used a basketball and a tennis ball to demonstrate some very basic astronomy to youngsters at last weekend's Hill Country Space Expo.

The first “Weakday Cafe” event attracted a good crowd for food, fellowship and live music in the courtyard behind the Weakday Ministries office at 312 Main Street in Burnet. Organizers plan to hold the Weakday Cafe from noon to 1 p.m. each Tuesday.
At right: Art from youth at the Phoenix Center in Marble Falls is currently on display at Marta Stafford Fine Art (at 2nd & Main). A reception will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. on Friday, September 21; it is family friendly and free of cost. Wine and appetizers will be served.

At right: One of the booths in a new room at The Ritzy Texan, on Hwy 29 at Main Street in Burnet; the room, with several distinct sections, was completed just in time for the store’s Grand Opening on September 8.

Below: The former Live Oak Park, in the southeast corner of Burnet, has new amenities and a new name. The City of Burnet has recently added a beautiful new shaded playground and a new pavilion; the old basketball court has been totally refurbished as well. The park is now called “Longoria Park” in honor of longtime City Parks Supervisor Randy Longoria.

Two foundations have been poured for planned Habitat for Humanity houses on Avenue M in Marble Falls (the first of three was recently completed). This photo was taken on Saturday morning, when framers had planned to begin work on the second house. A sign at the site said that the work day had been postponed until Wednesday morning.
These photos are from the final dress rehearsal of the musical comedy “Don’t Hug Me, I’m Pregnant!” at the Hill Country Community Theatre in Cottonwood Shores. (see ad on page 12)
The folks from Bunyon Bay, Minnesota are back! Clara and Gunner Johnson (Kay Baker and Seth Smith) own a little north woods bar called “The Bunyan.” Clara is expecting their first child, but NOT expecting the freak snow storm that traps them in the bar with three of their friends (played by Cody Petty and Kyle Hirning, at left, and Toni Souther, below). Gunner’s worst nightmare comes true when Clara goes into labor. What else could go wrong? A lot! You’ll see.

Bertram Prayer Walk

Pastor Ryan Schmidt, of One Desire Church, led the Bertram Ministerial Alliance’s 9/11 Prayer Walk through downtown Bertram last Sunday afternoon. Church members, First Responders and well-wishers gathered at the Joann Cole Mitte Memorial Library, and walked to several other locations (including City Hall, police and fire departments and Bertram Elementary School) to pray for their town as they remembered the heroes and victims of September 11, 2001.
