After the Kingsland Community Center was pressed into service as the headquarters for flood relief efforts in Kingsland, this year’s Halloween Carnival had to be re-scheduled. Although it was a week late and hastily put together, the carnival was a big success – and a relaxing outlet for stressed-out Kingsland residents. The photo above shows finalists from the 10-14 age group in the always-popular Costume Contest; more photos can be seen on page 4, and dozens more on the “Highland Lakes Weekly” Facebook page.

Upcoming Events
Kingsland School’s Veterans Day Program (photo from last year’s event) is one of several events scheduled for this weekend to honor our nation’s veterans.

By JOHN HALLOWELL

The Kingsland School will be observing Veterans’ Day at 10 a.m. on Friday, November 9. The Highland Lakes Men’s Chorus will provide the patriotic music. Third-graders will present “A Veterans Day Tribute” at the Lilano High School auditorium, also at 10 a.m. on Friday, November 9.

And the R.R. Richey Elementary School will host its annual Veterans Day Program from 10 to noon on the same day.

The Western Trappings on the Lilano exhibit will be open for viewing at the Lilano County Historical Museum until November 17.

The Kingsland House of Arts and Crafts is hosting its annual Christmas Market, Friday (10 to 4) and Saturday (9 to 4), November 9 & 10. Stop by for hand-crafted Christmas gifts, have a burger or sausage-on-a-stick, check out the Bake Sale, and bid on something in the Silent Auction.

The Sculpture on Main program in Marble Falls will dedicate this fall’s collection this weekend, with a Show and Sale event from 3 to 7 p.m. on Friday, and 10 to 5 on Saturday, November 9 and 10.

The Quilts of Valor outreach program of the Texas Hills Quilters of Lilano, with the Highland Lake Republican Women, will sponsor a Veterans Day celebration on Saturday, November 10 (beginning at 10 a.m.), at the Koyken-dall Events Center in Lilano. Lunch will be provided. For more details, please call Aleta Bariet at 325-247-2343.

The Double Hotel in Lilano will host a Christmas Market from 10 to 3 this Saturday, November 10.

Buddies One Stop in Kingsland will celebrate its 5th anniversary from 10 to 1 this Saturday (see ad at left).

The Lilano Country Opry will feature Dion Pride and special guest Brian Collins in a 2:30 p.m. show on Saturday, November 10.

Noted guitarist Paul Finley will make an appearance from 7 to 9 p.m. this Saturday (November 10) at Fuel Coffee House in Lilano.

The Geri-Hat-Trix band will perform at the Club Car Bar in Kingsland (at Grand Central Cafe) from 7 to 10 p.m. this Saturday, November 10. Lilano County 4-H will be hosting a Chicken Fried Steak Luncheon from 11:30 on Saturday, November 11, at St. James Lutheran Church in Lilano.

The Burnet VFW Post 6974 will host a Veterans Day Celebration from noon to 5 on Sunday, November 11. There will be biffets, live music, a bounce house, face painting, etc. Everyone is invited.

The Lilano Fine Arts Guild will host a Wine Bottle Santa demo by Marsha Lovelady from 10 to 3 on Thursday, November 15.

Lilano County Young Life will host a Bunco Night beginning at 6:30 at the Church in Horseshoe Bay (600 Hi Ridge Rd.) on Thursday, November 15.

Marble Falls will host a lighted parade to open its spectacular Walkway of Lights at dusk on Friday, November 16.

R.J. Richey Elementary School, on FM 963 in Burnet, will host a family-friendly Turkey Trot event, from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, November 17. Highlights will include games, prizes, etc. (including a costume contest; bring a non-perishable food item to go)

Lilano will celebrate lights on at the courthouse square around 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 21. A free Community Thanksgiving Meal will be held at Lutie Watkins Memorial United Methodist Church in Lilano from 11:30 to 1 on Thanksgiving Day.

Lilano’s Starry Starry Nights lighting display will open at 6 p.m. on the day after Thanksgiving in Badu Park. Santa will arrive by firetruck, returning every Friday and Saturday evening from 6 to 8 p.m. until December 22. The Christmas Park will be open every night from 6-9 p.m. until New Year’s Eve.

Josh Ward will perform from 10 to midnight that Friday night (November 23).

By JOHN HALLOWELL

Every once in a while, there’s a real disadvantage to being a “one-man show” (most of the time it just makes my life simpler, keeps my overhead lower and allows me to offer better advertising deals). This is Veterans Day weekend, and while observances are spread out over three days, all the schools that I’ve heard from are planning theirs for 10 a.m. on Friday (November 9). I think I’ve been to the event in Burnet (originally at Shady Grove Elementary, now at R.J. Richey) every year since it began (when my youngest was a student there); last year I started there, then hurried to the Kingsland School event to get a picture before the event was done.

I was thinking I’d do the same thing this year, but on Tuesday I got a notice that there would be a “groundbreaking” at 11 a.m. on Friday for the new bridge to be built on RR 2900, where the 1968 bridge had been washed out by the flood. That, right now, is the biggest news in Kingsland, and I realized that I might not make it if I tried to go to a Veterans Day event in another town. I almost wished that I could clone myself!

One of the Veterans Day activities on Saturday will be a Free Fishing Event, honoring all military veterans and their families, at the Inks Dam Fish Hatchery from 9 to 2. Bring your own tackle, but will be provided. Limit 300 anglers. Call (512) 792-2474 for more details.

My impression when I started this paper was that not many community events happen on Thursdays. I used to work all day and all night on Wednesday getting the paper put together, sleep “as fast as I could” for a couple of hours (it’s tough to get a full night’s sleep between 8:30 and noon), then go to pick up and deliver my papers that afternoon and evening. On rare occasions I would get off my delivery route to take a picture, but that was the exception and not the rule. Thursday mornings were really the only time this business was “closed.”

It may be just that more people are letting me know about their events, or maybe everybody realized that Thursdays were “open.” These days, there is almost always something going on that I really hate to miss, and even though I have streamlined my process enough to get a little sleep in the middle of a Wednesday night, it really does complicate sometimes... (and sometimes I just can’t see it to a really good event).

One of those events may be the Big Flood Relief Comedy Benefit at Marble Falls First Baptist on November 29. It’s billed as “A Night of Laughter with Coffey Anderson and The Slot Guys,” and the notice says it will go from 7 to 10. I usually make my Thursday deliveries in Marble Falls around 10, so maybe if I can get a little bit ahead of schedule I’ll be able to catch the ending. Either way, I wanted to let you know (in case you’d like to support that good cause).

I hardly ever cover school events outside of Kingsland, but a friend told me about a competition to collect box tops as a fundraiser at R.J. Richey Elementary School in Burnet. The winners were Lisa Bullock’s 3rd- graders, and they were rewarded with an ice cream party. Michael and Julie Robinson asked me to publicly thank John Collins and the Burnet Dairy Queen for donating ice cream cakes, and “parents for helping, and kids for caring.”

Thanks to everyone who participated!

My friend Tracy Pitcock regularly buys an ad in this paper for his Llano Country Opry; because I like the Opry so much (and because he is a friend), I usually run the ad again the next week at no charge. This week’s paper got too crowded, so I’m not running the ad again, but I want to remind everyone that Dixie Pride will be in Llano at 2:30 this Saturday afternoon. I’ll hope to see you there!

One more thing: I got an impressive list of art-related classes and workshops to be held during the next few weeks at Calamity & Grace in Llano. Look them up on Facebook if you think you may be interested.

The Llano River was still flowing over the Kingsland Slab on Tuesday, when this photo was taken, and the road was still closed. A TxDOT crew was clearing the area around the drainage pipes under the road while waiting for the water to go down; a thorough inspection will be made before the road is re-opened.

Barges and excavators were dropped off at the Kingsland Community Park on Monday morning. They will be used to demolish what is left of the 2900 bridge and retrieve pieces of the old bridge from the bottom of the lake before the new bridge is built.

The new Gatti’s Pizza building, on RR 1431 near the First Baptist Church and the Kingsland Community Center, would normally be the biggest news in Kingsland. It has been upstaged by the flood, but should be completed and opened for business sometime next spring.

The Llano County Flood Recovery Committee, organized by the county and the Lions Clubs from Llano and Kingsland, met at the Kingsland Community Church on Monday to plan its continued support for those affected by the recent Llano River flood. Pictured above are volunteers Laura Almond, Zilah Schienner, Leslie Tomlinson, Barry Box, Jo Williams, Dave Richson and Jay Ward. The committee is transitioning from clean-up to re-building, and hopes to use donations from the community to assist those whose homes were damaged, beginning with those in greatest need. Those who need assistance should call 325-325-0964; those wishing to help can call the Llano Chamber of Commerce at 325-247-5354 or Kingsland First Baptist Church at 325-423-3662. Contributions will be handled by Kingsland Lions Club Charities, LLC, an official 501c3 non-profit, and will be tax-deductible. The committee meets each Monday to assess progress and priorities.

The Shakey Tale of Dr. Jakey

Llano Community Theatre presented a very entertaining "melodrama and dinner theatre" with the tale of a small town thrown into chaos by the arrival of a travelling medicine show. In the photo above, the town’s mayor (Dean Zachary), the dubious local doctor (LaDonna Sutton) and the mayor’s daughter (Connie Turner) listen to the Dr. Jakey (Dwain Rogers) as he describes the coming attractions.

The comical music troupe failed to deliver as promised, much to the amusement of the enthusiastic audience.

The slightly unscrupulous doctor winds up behind bars, courtesy of the zealous sheriff (played by Shawn Hull).

Mr. Boddy (played by Endrit Bislimi) greets guests at a mysterious dinner party in his mansion (moments before the lights go out and he is murdered) in the MFHS Theatre group's production of "Clue" last weekend. The guests-turned-suspects are: Professor Plum (CW Hellen), Mrs. Peacock (Abigail Collard), Miss Scarlet (Gabby Rinker), Mr. Green (Sebastian Evridge Pope), Mrs. White (Gigi Goff) and Colonel Mustard (Charles McLean).

The maid, Yvette (Adelaide Whitley, at left) and the butler, Wadsworth (Zachary Young), urge calm after the discovery of a second murder victim (the cook, played by Ruth Faehnle) in another room.

Wadsworth holds the six suspects at gunpoint as the suspenseful-but-hilarious play reaches its climactic ending. The audience, most of whom were familiar with the popular board game which was the basis for the play, sat in bleachers around the stage and interacted with the characters as the mystery unfolded.

A steady stream of supporters crowded into the historic Castell schoolhouse last Saturday for the annual Chili Dinner fundraiser. The original two-room schoolhouse was built in the late 1800s and expanded to three classrooms in 1929, but closed in 1948 when local children began attending school in Llano. It has served since then as a community center, and has recently been beautifully renovated.

The crowd at Western Trappings spilled over into the museum’s lower level, where attendees enjoyed music and gourmet refreshments.

Rhoda Schmidt and Harold Castelman, of the Highway 16 Band, provided live entertainment for the Western Trappings crowd.
