With Veterans Day on Sunday this year, celebrations and commemorations around the Highland Lakes were spread throughout the weekend. One of the most photogenic displays was this granite cross, surrounded by American flags to honor our veterans, facing RR 1431 on the grounds of the Kingsland Community Church. This week’s paper includes photos from events in Kingsland, Llano, Tow and Burnet (see pages 8-11; for many more pictures, visit the Highland Lakes Weekly page on Facebook).

Marble Falls will host a lighted parade to open its spectacular Walkway of Lights at dusk on Friday, November 16. The BRTC students will present three 7 p.m. showings of “Zombie Prom: the Musical” at the Burnet School auditorium this Thursday through Saturday (November 15-17). R.J. Rickley Elementary School, on FM 193 in Burnet, will host a family-friendly Turkey Trot event, from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, November 17. Highlights will include games, prizes, etc. (including a costume contest); bring a non-perishable food item to get in. Llano will turn on the lights at the courthouse square around 6 p.m. on Wednesday, November 21. A free Community Thanksgiving Meal will be held at Lostie Walker Memorial United Methodist Church in Llano from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day. Burnet Community Kitchen’s Free Thanksgiving Day Meal will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Vander Veer Street Church of Christ.

Llano’s Starry Starry Nights Lighting display will open at 6 p.m. on the day after Thanksgiving in Badu Park. Santa will arrive by firetruck, running every Friday and Saturday evening from 6 to 8 p.m. until December 22. The Christmas Park will be open every night from 6 to 9 p.m., until New Year’s Eve. Josh Ward will perform from 10 to midnight that Friday night (November 23) at the Ramble Inn in Llano. Kingsland merchants will host another Small Business Saturday event (at store fronts and at the Prosperity Bank parking lot) on November 24. Philip Smith will present his “St. Paul Speaks” program during the worship service on Sunday, November 25, at Packer Fellowship in Kingsland (508 RR 2900).

Marble Falls First Baptist will host a Flood Relief Comedy Benefit beginning at 7 p.m. on Thursday, November 29. It’s billed as “A Night of Laughter with Coffey Anderson and The Skid Guys.”

The Hill Country Community Theatre will present the Christmas farce “Sorry! Wrong Chimney!” in twelve performances from November 29 to December 16. The Highland Lakes Social Club will meet at 11 a.m. on Monday, December 3, at Hildwad Lakes United Methodist Church in Buchanan Dam. The Bluebonnet Harmonics will provide Christmas music; RSVP at 830- 796-1727 by Thursday, November 29 for the catered luncheon. All ladies are invited to attend.

The Hill Country Community Band will present a Christmas Concert at 3 p.m. on Friday, December 7, at the Marble Falls Public Library. The Llano Art Guild will host its Holiday Market Open House from 5:30 to 7:30 on Friday, December 7, and a Kid’s Contest for its Gift of Art promotion at 5:30 the next evening. Burnett’s wonderful Main Street Bethlehem presentation will be open December 7 and 14-16, from 6 to 9 each evening. Burnett’s Christmas on the Square will be held from noon to 9 p.m. on Saturday, December 8, and Christmas at Fort Croghan will be held this year from 5 to 8 that evening. The Llano Country Opry will present Billy Dean and Kristi Kylin in two shows (2:30 and 7:30 p.m.) on Saturday, December 8.

It seems fitting (in this "Veterans Day" issue) to mention Stephen Moran and his father, Ron Bourque (both veterans), who have recently gone into business as American Mobile Detailing. They did a great job on my much-abused Ford Focus last week, and I heartily recommend their services! See their ad on page 12 or learn more about what they offer at americanmobiledetail.com.

Scatterthought

By JOHN HALLOWELL

What a week! I know; I say that every week, but this week had a little extra.

I have always said that I like the November holidays, and wish that they would get a little more attention between Halloween and Christmas. This year the Halloween season got cut short by the flood, but Veterans Day went into overtime. With the 11th falling on a Sunday, schools began the celebration on the 9th and different groups around the Highland Lakes honored veterans in different events all the way until Tuesday. I appreciate that, and I'm doing quite a bit of this at the end of October. But what really stole the spotlight this past week was the rapid response to the loss of Kingsland's RR 2960 bridge.

That, even more than the fact that most of the schools were honoring veterans at the same time, is the reason this week's paper doesn't have even more Veterans Day pictures. The "groundbreaking" at the north end of the past and future bridges, out-rank-anything else in my news scale, and my Friday schedule was built around it.

That's my flimsy excuse for not noticing the marquee sign at Pecos Middle School. I delivered papers there at around 9 a.m., and never noticed this sign advertising a Veterans Day program at 9:30. I had received several Facebook messages about the 10 a.m. program at the Kingsland School, and I did get there for a few minutes of their program, but my 20-year string of attending the big ceremony in Burnet (originally at Shady Grove, and more recently at J.R. Reiley) came to an end because of that bridge.

I don't mean to sound like I'm apologizing, I'm regretting it a little, but I'd make the same decision again if I had to do it over. I felt like I was part of a very good piece of Kingsland history, and I was delighted to be there for that great event. What I didn't know (until a Facebook friend messaged me) was that KVUE TV had caught me on camera, and I really AM a part of that history. I watched the report late that night, and wasn't too surprised to see that my friend had been right when she said "Saw your smiling mug on KVUE." I think everybody there was smiling!

I watched the three-minute clip, and was proud to see my friend Pat Muller expressing herself so well. I also appreciated the words of Dick Smith, who said he lives "on the wrong side of the bridge," but was happy anyway. He said, "I've never seen a government work so fast!" I'm impressed, too.

Since then, I've been making my rounds at least twice a day, trying to keep track of the amazing progress that is already being made (while I try to do my "normal" job AND the "extra" work that comes with putting together four pages more than normal). What a week!

Now I have to pick the most "important" pictures to fill my limited space in this paper. I hope many of you will go to my Facebook page and see the albums I've posted there.

Speaking of limited space, I've devoted most of one page to pointing out that the old bridge was completed in 1968 (not 1969, as TxDOT has been saying). They may have had a dedication or something in early 1969, but the bridge was definitely open for traffic before Christmas in 1968 (see page 16). I'm careless about a lot of things, but I'm really picky about historical dates; I think I caused some consternation at the Burnet Chamber a few years ago, when I pointed out that their t-shirts (Continued on page 16)

After being closed to traffic for more than five weeks by the overflowing Llano River, the Kingsland Slab was finally re-opened on Tuesday afternoon.

A huge crane from Austin helped assemble a portable barge, from the Poseidon Barge company in Indiana, at Kingsland Community Park on Monday, as other heavy equipment worked to clear the boat ramp area of mud and debris.

The barge, loaded with excavating equipment, was towed from the park to the bridge construction site by a Chapman Docks tugboat on Wednesday.

The Summer of 1972 in Kingsland

By JOHN HALLOWELL

Kingsland's new water system was in place again on June 8, 1972. Chairman Roy Mosely issued a statement thanking "the people of Kingsland for their patience and consideration during the past six months as repairs have been made. It has been quite a job to get all the bugs out of the system, and now we should be able to handle repairs quickly." At that time, there were about 400 customers signed up for the system expected to be able to handle about 100 more before reaching full capacity.

The board had several messages for Kingsland residents: 1) New members would be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis; 2) Property owners who have meters, but are not connected to the system would have to pay the minimum fee even though they were not using any water; 3) Residents living near the system's lines were not assured of water the night they wanted 4) and after the 500-member limit had been reached, people would have to wait for someone to leave the system before they could sign up, (although the Highlander pointed out that pumping facilities were already capable of serving about 1,000 homes.)

Another front-page story told how Kingsland was taking the "first steps towards reported the death of local hero, Henry Hill, the first Commander of Kingsland's American Legion Post 437. He was buried with full military honors by the American Legion Post 437, San Antonio, and many Kingslanders attended the funeral.

The Kingsland Library announced expanded hours for the summer: it would open two afternoons each week (Thursday and Friday) as well as its regular Saturday morning hours. Mrs. Pete Pollard was the librarian, and many Kingsland youngsters joined the Texas Reading Club for the summer.

Roy Mosley and Rev. Fred Brecks announced the beginning of the Salvation Army's annual fund drive to help locals with food, medicine, lodging, etc. during a temporary crisis; the Salvation Army also sent several local high school students to one-week camp near Midlothian each summer.

The Kingsland Chamber of Commerce announced plans for a "Better Than Ever" Aqua Boom that summer.

The third annual Independence Day celebration would begin with a street dance at the shopping center on Friday evening, June 20. Malcolm Long announced that "Wink Tyler and his band from Austin" would provide dance music from 9 to midnight in a roped-off section of the shopping center parking lot. Admission to the dance area would cost $1.

The "big day" would be Saturday, July 1. A "motorless" parade would be featured festivities at 10 a.m. Marching bands, bicycles, tricycles, horse-drawn wagons and hand-pulled floats would be accompanied by band music. A boat parade would begin at 2 p.m. on Lake Llano River. Joe Cox and David Boone would be in charge of the Chamber's fireworks show, and they promised "more and better fireworks" then ever before.

The Chamber Howard Ralst, of the steering committee for the proposed utility district, reported that the initial reaction from the public had been "very favorable," and that the committee was nearly finished with its survey of the proposed area.

On June 15, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Berry urged "everyone to march, have fun and come out to decorate their buildings for the Aqua Boom. They advertised "star-studded red, white and blue" plastic bunting for 30 cents per yard to help with decorations. While the committee hoped that merchants had hired a commercial decorator this year to put up and take down decorations at the annual parade, the Chamber had decided that it would be cheaper and "more patriotic" to do it yourself. A S25 U.S. Savings Bond would be awarded to the decorations deemed "most attractive."

Buckner Benevolences trustees from all over Texas convened on Buena Vista Ranch for a semi-annual meeting on July 8. That was also the weekend of the ranch's Homecoming, and one of the highlights was a talk by Jesse Perkins on "What the Ranch has meant to me." Perkins had been named first-team All-State quarterback while attending Burnet High School, he was vice-president of "the bank at Alamo" in 1972.

A front-page photo showed the arrival of a 388,000-pound "steam drum" at the half-finished power plant in Horsehoe Bay. The caption told how the drum had been shipped by rail from a factory in Tennessee, then transferred to an oversize truck near Granite Shoals and taken across the low-water crossing below Wirtz Dam.

Almost all the Kingsland news in the June 22 and 29 issues of the Kingslander was dedicated to covering Aqua Boom. Congressmen O.C. Fisher would serve as marshal of the decorated boat parade, and Miss Highland Lakes Universe Deborah Carkley, of Austin, would ride in the lead boat. Those were the days before the Aqua Boom had a pageant of its own; she had been crowned at the Highland Lakes Tourism Association's pageant in Horsehoe Bay on June 16. Two Kingslanders were honored at that pageant; Don Lissum's granddaughter, Donna, had been crowned Miss Tiny Tot, and Dmitri Applegateg was singled out for honorable mention by MC Don Dean for her help with the pageant.

Inman's Catering, from Llano, announced that they would provide a BBQ meal at Lions Park for $1.75 per plate at lunchtime on Saturday. Eron Moore was "signing up and working with local and out-of-town skiers" who would perform in a ski show just before the boat parade on Saturday evening. Joe Cox and David Boone were in charge of the fireworks show; they promised "more and better fireworks" than ever before.

The Aquan Boom Festival was the biggest news in the Highland Lakes area on June 7, and the headline read: "Kingsland:Aqua Boom kicks off." High winds kept some from participating in the Boat Parade, but the show went on and organizers called it "rousing success." Stein Lumber won the Decorating Contest: Kori Delo won "Best Three Wheeler" in the motorless parade and Malcolm Long's entry (see photo at left) won the "Other" category. The ski show was a "10-act event including barefoot skiers, flag carriers, five-person pyramid, trick and slalom skiing, beauty pageant contestants, a clown, and a water skiing dog. Local judges included Steve Turner, Tim Ribbery, Brett Bilberry, Charlie Schneider, Roy Love, Steve Funke, Barry Noonan, Stewart Harris, Powell Charlton, Denise Funke, Dale Robertson and Mark Judd.

Representatives from TxDOT, Llano County, and the Kingsland Chamber held a ground-breaking at the north end of the RR 2900 bridge site last Friday morning. The well-publicized event attracted an enthusiastic crowd and positive media coverage as it celebrated an impressively rapid response to Kingsland’s calamity.

Chamber members and guests spread out around the floor of the beautiful Boat Town showroom in Kingsland at a Chamber mixer last Thursday evening.

CEO Mitchell Moorhead, of Texas Media Group, presented a check for $4,000 to members of the Llano County Flood Recovery Committee (Leslie Tomlinson, Dave Richison, Laura Almond, Mike Sandal, and Jay Ward) at the Kingsland Community Church on Monday. The check represents donations from fans of the “Texas Hill Country” Facebook page; other contributions went to Burnet County and Sonora.

A good crowd attended the Veterans Day celebration at Burnet's VFW Post 6974 last Sunday afternoon.

The Highland Lakes Honor Guard presented the colors to begin the VFW's Sunday ceremony.

BHS art students provided patriotic face-painting at the family-friendly event. There was a bounce house, a delicious meal and live music by Ben Watson’s HIred Guns and DJ Wayne Gatlin. Boy Scouts dedicated a recently-completed pergola, and Mayor Crista Bromley was the featured Veterans Day speaker.
The popular Hill Country Plungettes entertained a good crowd at a Veterans Day event, held at the Tow Community Center on Sunday afternoon.

After serving a delicious meal, organizers presented special handmade "hangings" with a patriotic theme to about a dozen military veterans in attendance.

Pet of the Week

Pins is a super sweet Rotty mix who weighs about 64 pounds. Pins came to us from a bad situation but despite that, she is such a sweet girl. She has 1 eye, but it doesn’t slow her down a bit. She really enjoys being loved on and likes other dogs and cats too. She rarely barks and walks great on a leash. She will make the perfect companion for anyone looking for a sweet and loving dog. To meet Pins, please call the Hill Country Humane Society at 512-720-5463 or visit our web site at www.HillCountryHumaneSociety.org. We are open Thursday through Monday from 11 am to 4 pm.

LBJ BRIDGE NEARING COMPLETION—Target date for completion of the bridge over the Llano arm of Lake LBJ at Kingsland has been moved up from July 1 to the middle of August by the house contractors, Payne & Keller. Flooring for the 1200 foot bridge is now being poured. When completed at a cost of $579,286, the bridge and five miles of access road, will connect Highway 1431 at Kingsland with Highway 71 on the south side of the lake.

The photos above and at right are screenshots of the microfiche archives of the Marble Falls Highlander in 1968. While the photo of the "nearby-completed" bridge is dark and fuzzy, the caption is very legible from this issue at the end of May. Even the postponed target date turned out to be too optimistic, but a news story in November indicated that the bridge should be open for traffic very shortly. It apparently opened with very little fanfare in November of 1968; the merchants of Kingsland bought a full-page ad at the beginning of December (the top is pictured at right) inviting folks from the south side of Lake LBJ to cross the bridge and do their Christmas shopping in Kingsland.

Below the ad photo is a January, 2018, photo of the old 2900 bridge, and below that is a photo of the planned new bridge, as envisioned by a TXDOT artist. While the new bridge looks quite similar to the old bridge, it will be wider (including 6-foot sidewalks and 12-foot cars and 6-foot shoulders) and five feet higher in the middle than at the ends.

had the wrong year for the first Bluebonnet Festival (but I knew that it was 1964 - NOT 1983). I also felt compelled to let KVUE's flood expert know that the record flood in Llano occurred in 1935 - NOT 1939, as he had said. Sometimes I just can't control my "editor" impulses (even though I make a lot of mistakes myself).

Now that I've wasted so much of your time, I want to mention a few things that actually matter. For one, the Kingsland Knights of Columbus Council 13245 is holding its Annual Tamale Fund Raiser during November and December to support local charities in the Llano and Burnet Counties. Tamale sale is $7.00 a dozen, and deliveries will begin December 7. Call Joe at 325-388-5549 to place your order.

The Friends of the Kingsland Library will be holding a Book and Bake Sale (see ad on page 19).

The Helping Center Garden will be featured on KRLU-TV several times this weekend. Find their schedule online.

All the lakes except LBJ are reopened for public use, an update on Lake LBJ's status will be given this Friday.

Something else that I consider worthwhile is the Highland Lakes Master Gardener 2019 certification class. The deadline to apply is January 11, 2019; the class will begin on February 14 and run for 13 weeks, meeting in Burnet every Thursday from 10 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. To get more information or to download an application, go to the website at www.burnetcountylakelandsmastergardener.org. For other questions, contact Amy Parke at 254-833-2720 or steveannparke@yahoo.com.

Wednesday Ministries, in Burnet, is looking for sponsors to help provide winter clothing for 15 school-age kids. Call 512-355-2944 if you'd like to help. Bobbi Clark and his band will be coming out of "retirement" at least once more, for a performance from 6 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, December 1, at the Trailblazer Grille in Burnet.

Lou Quallenberg, of Llano, has been winning more accolades at furniture shows for his amazing mesquite masterpieces.

Admiral Al Kelin, also now of Llano, was honored at a recent Washington, D.C. meeting of the Naval Submarine League (which I believe he helped to start in 1982).

I'm sure there's more, but I'd better stop here. Have a great week!
Music around the Lakes

Above: Dion Pride joined the Country Opry Band on stage last Saturday to present a tribute to his father, country music legend Charley Pride.

Below: Ben Watson and the Hired Guns shared musical duties with DJ Wayne Galiff at the all-afternoon Veterans Day Celebration held at the VFW Post 6974 in Burnet last Sunday.

Happy Thanksgiving

We thank you for the opportunity to work together and for making us feel at home in our community.

Young livestock raisers show goats at the Wilco West Ag Association’s “Winter Blast” Jackpot Show, held at the Burnet County Fairgrounds last weekend. The association, based in Liberty Hill, raises funds for FFA and 4-H groups and members in the west side of Williamson County.

Youngsters wait their turns to show lambs at the Winter Blast last weekend.

Despite the chilly morning weather, vendors did a brisk business at the Burnet County Fairgrounds during the Winter Blast.
