Rapid progress continues on the replacement RM 2900 bridge project, and TxDOT confidently predicts that traffic will be crossing the bridge on schedule, by the end of April. Cones were in place on Wednesday (when this photo was taken), blocking off the turn lane in the center of RM 2900 to allow for another convoy of beam-bearing trucks, and another section should be added before this weekend. In the meantime, plans are already underway for a triumphant “50th Annual” Aqua Boom festival (with water activities and a fireworks show at the new bridge) this Fourth of July. We’ll be keeping you posted on the “Highland Lakes Weekly” Facebook page.

Executive Director Jarrod Metzgar opened the official proceedings by recognizing distinguished guests at the 60th Annual Awards Banquet and thanking volunteers who had assisted the Chamber during the previous year.

Bill McCartney, a board member of the Highland Lakes Family Crisis Center, accepted the Community Service Award on behalf of HL FCC Executive Director Alma Lahmon from Chamber board member Kelly Wainwright.
Above: Fire Chief Russell Sander presented the “Outstanding Citizen of the Year” award to Kevin Naumann, Operations Director at the Marble Falls EMS.

Board member Mandi Goldsmith presented the "Ambassador Board Member of the Year" award to Cade Rice.

Membership Co-ordinator Sarah Cummings accepted the "Lifetime Achievement" award from Board President Taylor Smith on behalf of honoree Terry Evans, who was not able to attend Saturday evening's banquet.

A capacity crowd attended last Saturday night's Chamber Awards Banquet at the Lakeside Pavilion in Marble Falls. One of the evening's highlights was an interactive "Murder Mystery" orchestrated by actors from Austin.

Two of the actors from "Murder Mystery Texas" held a conversation during the meal. Tables competed to interpret clues and solve the mystery.

Chef Becca Schafer, of Becca Events & Catering, posed with her daughter Izzy Lou, after serving a long line of hungry guests at the Chamber banquet.

While it's a bit of a stretch to call the longhorns above "wildlife" (seen just down Park Road 4 from the aptly-named Longhorn Cavern) or, for that matter, the actors below (from the Hill Country Community Theatre's production of "Baskerville," now in its final weekend), the pelicans on Inks Lake and the deer on a side street in Kingsland are two of the legitimate (but remarkably common) wildlife sightings in the Highland Lakes area.

First-graders from Packsaddle Elementary School in Kingsland opened last week’s Fabulous Friday assembly with a song. Fabulous Friday is a unique program, funded with seed money from the Women’s Christian Organization (WCO) at Kingsland Community Church, and supported by donations from numerous businesses and individuals in Llano County. The entire student body from Packsaddle is bused to Llano High School every six weeks to reward students for positive behaviors.

The auditorium at Llano High School was filled with attentive and enthusiastic elementary school students for the February 22 “Fabulous Friday.”

A drawing was held from the names of students who had perfect attendance for the previous six weeks; two from each grade were called on stage and presented with a $5 bill. In another activity, called “Jumping for George,” students got a ticket for each week that they had exhibited good behavior. All the tickets for each grade were put in a bucket for a drawing, and the winners were allowed to “Jump for George.” Dollar bills were taped together end-to-end, and the winners of the drawing would jump from the end, earning as many dollars as they jumped. The program gives away nearly $400 each Fabulous Friday, but (judging by the enthusiastic crowd participation), it seems like an excellent investment!
