The Soapbox Classic in Marble Falls was probably the most photo-friendly event of the weekend, but it had a LOT of competition, most notably the Crawfish Open in Llano and GraniteFest in Granite Shoals (see photos at top of page). You can see many more photos from these events and several more on the “Highland Lakes Weekly” Facebook page.

Scatterthought

If you are reading this paper, I must have survived the month of April! Always a very busy month, April seemed to build up to a "perfect storm" of events last weekend, and I just wasn’t able to cover most of the events as well as I wanted to. I still had many more pictures than I could fit into the paper, so I strongly recommend that you check out the "Highland Lakes Weekly" page on Facebook. The "big three" of last weekend’s events were the huge Crawfish Open in Llano, the (1st Annual) Granite Fest in Granite Shoals, and (always my favorite) the Soapbox Classic in Marble Falls. There should be a law against having all three on the same weekend! I really wish I could have had more time at all three (and all the smaller events that were going on at the same time?)

There is not so much going on this weekend, but I won’t have any trouble staying busy. The Howdy Roo in Marble Falls and the High School Championship BBQ Cook-Off in Burnet may be the biggest two events, but there’s something happening in every town around the lakes, and I’ll be putting a few miles on my car as I try to get at least a sampling of the activities. One thing that I kind of "dropped the ball" on last week was the planning fundraiser for Bryden Vhara, at Packard Fellows in Kingsland (see ad on page 17). I hope to see a lot of you there, even with the late notice.

Llano County readers (and, I think, KMUD customers in Burnet County) should take notice of the LIMTED Residential Bulb collection at the County Annex in Buchanan Dam. You can bring tires, furniture, mattresses, etc. (but no appliances with freon) from 8 to noon this Saturday (May 4).

The Highland Lakes Pregnancy Resource Center (which recently moved from Kingsland to Marble Falls) will hold a Sporting Clay Fundraiser beginning at 9 a.m. this Saturday at the Copperhead Creek Shooting Club east of Marble Falls, where it has a temporary office at 300 Avenue N. When renovations are completed at the Texas Resource Center on Broadway, the HLPRC will have a spacious new office there.

The Highland Lakes Texas Exes Chapter will host a "Thirsty Thursday" event at Bear King Brewery in Marble Falls (behind the Blue Bonnet Cafe), from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on May 9. Admission is $25 per person and includes appetizers and one beer. Proceeds will go to the chapter’s UT scholarship fund. Everyone is invited! RSVP to Ron Nicholas at 210-268-4155.

The Hill Country Theatre will present the award-winning drama "Do Nut, A Parable," as part of its Plays for New Audiences series. Director Patrick Lescarbeau, a familiar face to all HCTT fans, has assembled an impressive cast of Austin actors who will be coming to Cottonwood Shores to perform the play May 23-26. HCTT is now taking applications for admission to its Youth Summer Theatre Program, which runs from June 10 through June 23, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. If accepted, the cost of the program is $310 per student, ages 8 to 17. Students will present four public performances of "Sentimental Jr." (Thursday, June 20 and Friday, June 21 at 6 p.m., and Saturday, June 22 and Sunday, June 23 at 2:15 p.m.) on the Hill Country Community Theatre stage. For an application, call the theatre at (830) 603-2474, or email director@hillcct.org.

This year’s Llano County Beef & Range Field Day is set for 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, May 28, at the John L. Kuykendsall Event Center in Llano (doors open at 7:45 a.m.).

New “Emergency Management Coordinator” for Llano County, Gilbert Bennett, demonstrates one of the products that he recommends for everyone to keep in their car: a lime green umbrella with a clear panel for visibility in case of an emergency. He was introduced by Commissioner Mike Sandoval at Tuesday’s Town Hall meeting in Kingsland.

The Sea-Doo for this year’s Aqua Boom raffle (from Highland Lakes Watercraft) was on display this week at Security State Bank. A Jon Boat from Splash Rentals was displayed at Prosperity Bank for a separate raffle; tickets for both are available at the Kingsland Chamber office and at several area businesses.

5th-grader William Foley led off the Packsaddle Elementary School’s Talent Show last Thursday evening with an instantly-recognizable impression of actor/politician Arnold Schwarzenegger. About 20 other talented students followed with acts of their own.

Another convoy of trucks arrived on Monday, bringing more beams to the RM 2900 bridge construction site in Kingsland.

When the beams were put in place on Tuesday, the bridge reached to within a few yards of the south shore.

Workers on dry land were preparing the last of the “bents” for the southern approach to the RM 2900 bridge on Tuesday, and it seems that the target date of May 24 for the bridge’s opening is well within reach. A huge community party to celebrate the new bridge’s completion is planned for May 30 at Boat Town in Kingsland.
Robinson Park, on the Llano River about two miles west of the Llano square, was filled with activity last Friday and Saturday as a huge crowd celebrated at this year’s Crawfish Open.

Shannon Ziese (at right) enjoyed the crawfish on Saturday with her sister (Laura Ziese-Smith from Beaville) and her dad (John Ziese, from Kingsland).

Judge Cheryl Maybray (formerly Llano County Attorney) enjoyed the Crawfish Open with her sister, Carrie Pickering (at left), her daughter Meryll Mabray Hodson, and her grandsons Barrett and Brooks Hodson. Hundreds of other families also attended the amazing community party.
The Cadillac Gypsies band, featuring vocalists Eric Schuessler and Jenny Kelso, entertained Saturday lunchtime diners at Llano’s huge Crawfish Open last weekend.

Hundreds of partiers consumed tons of crawfish during the amazing Crawfish Open in Llano.

The pavilion at Robinson Park in Llano was filled and overflowing for most of the weekend.
Soapbox Classic participants lined Main Street in Marble Falls with colorful booths on Friday afternoon, many of them displaying imaginative homemade cars which would participate in the weekend’s races.

Above: Larry and Trevor Merkel were in Marble Falls for the parade on Friday evening. Merkel family members have been mainstays of the Soapbox Classic since its beginning.

At right: Mason Liebham, the inspiration for Cabin 9 Racing’s “Racin’ 4 Mason” team, rode in one of the cars during Friday evening’s parade. He also won the hat contest on Saturday.

Longtime participant and Derby supporter Grant Dean received two trophies: one for taking first place in the “Speed Division” in his “Nemesis” car, and another for his many contributions to the success of this delightful community event.

There’s a reason for actor Randy Hilmer’s unorthodox wardrobe choices in this scene from the Hill Country Community Theatre’s production of “Doublewide, Texas,” but it would take too long to explain it here. You’ll just have to go and see the hilarious-and-heartwarming play, which will continue this weekend and next with 7:30 p.m. shows on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, plus a 2:15 matinee on Sundays.

The City of Granite Shoals held its 1st Annual GraniteFest on the grounds of the City Hall last Saturday. Highlights included a BBQ Cook-Off, kids' activities, an excellent selection of vendors and great live music. While a brisk wind forced the cancellation of planned hot-air balloon rides, other parts of the event went very well. We hope this will become a great Granite Shoals tradition!

• Who’s here now? What birds nest specifically in the hill country?
• Who lives here year round?
• Interested in birds in the wild – there’s an app for that!
• How can you attract more song birds to your backyard?
• Binocs – what can you tell about a bird just by looking at it?
• Come learn some cool fun facts about our fine feathered friends!
How and why do birds sing? Are all birds good birds? Why are some birds so colorful and some so drab?

Above: Carolyn and Country Faith was another of the quality groups who entertained the Granitefest crowd last Saturday.

Pilots from the Experimental Aircraft Association offered free rides to young people interested in aviation during a Young Eagles event at the Commerative Air Force hangar in Burnet last Saturday. In the photos at left, Daniel Wilson, Jesus Hernandez and Kenneth-Paul Coble got a ride with pilot David Bonorden. Since the Young Eagles program began in 1992, more than two million young people have enjoyed a free introductory flight courtesy of EAA pilots and airplanes.

Ranjita Kumar

Ranjita Kumar was born and raised in South Asia. Her father was an alcoholic, and her parents experienced marital problems so severe that at the age of 7, Ranjita was placed in a Christian orphanage. A couple months later, Operation Christmas Child visited Ranjita’s orphanage and distributed shoebox gifts. For the first time in her life, Ranjita felt special and worthwhile instead of abandoned and worthless. Her favorite item in the shoebox was a colorful children’s Bible in a language she didn’t know. It was later that she learned English and finally read the Bible, which gave her much-needed hope. Her other favorite items included paints and a journal. With these, Ranjita went on to win several painting competitions in her school and gained a love for writing and journalism. To hear the story God’s written upon her life, please join us for a special time of Ranjita sharing her testimony.
